Principal's Message

The students, staff and community continue to demonstrate that North Lambton is a special place to be.

Our students have made an impact in sports on the ice rinks, courts, fields, and tracks, along with outstanding achievements on our stage and in the community. In addition, our students have demonstrated their abilities in making huge improvements on the Grade 10 Literacy Test and the Grade 9 Math Assessment. Our students have made me very proud in and out of the school.

Thank you to all of the staff who have assisted the students in making these accomplishments possible. Thank you also to the North Lambton community for supporting our staff and students. North Lambton is a great example of a community school of which all of us should be very proud.

Mr. Warner

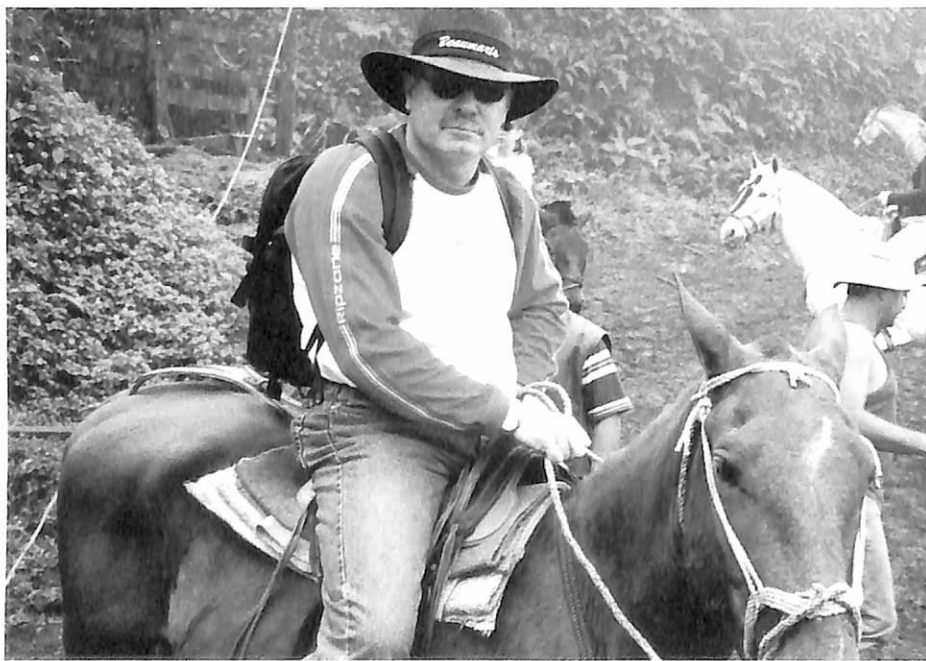

Vice-Principal's Message

Congratulations to all of the staff and students of another successful year in Eagle Country. I have enjoyed sharing in the many rewarding activities and successes we have had this year.

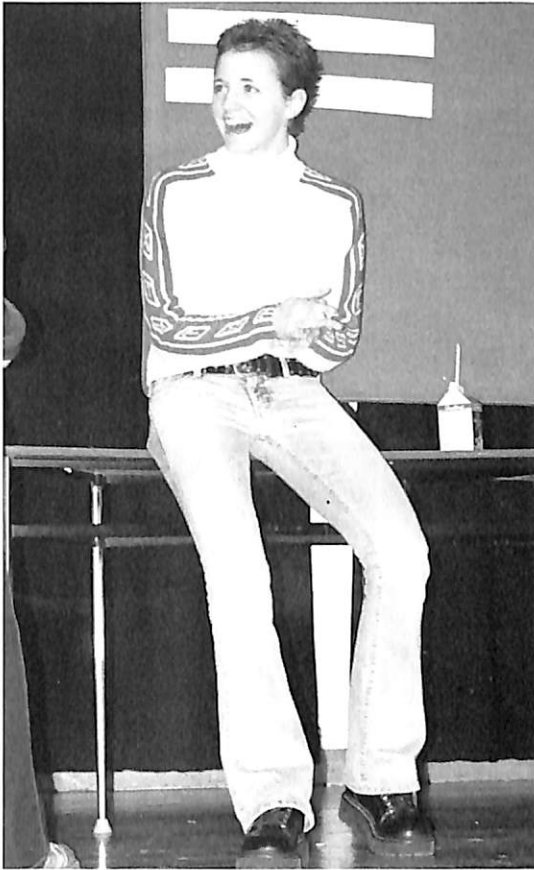

As Vice-Principal, one of the highlights of 2002-2003 was the success of semiformal Winter Wonderland. The compliance by the students and the dedication of the organizing committee was commendable.

To our graduating students, best of luck in future endeavours. To all returning students, let's work hard to make next year an even more enjoyable one.

Mr. Jackson

Class of 2003 President

"In a world where there is so much to be done, I felt strongly impressed that there must be something for me to do." - Dorothea Dix Becoming class of 2003 President has been one of the most "eventful" decisions I've made yet. Being the person everyone comes to when something goes wrong, or being the person who is "supposed to" know everything isn't always easy. But in the end, no matter how unorganized we thought we were, things always worked out. Semiformal, prom and the talent show are among many of the great events that class of 2003 organized to ensure a memorable year at North Lambton. I'd like to say thanks to all of the Class of 2003 members and the executive: Katie, Alicia and Sheryl, for getting involved and making this year's events happen. Special thanks to Mr. Perry and Mlle. Kingdon for all of their hard work and patience.

Getting involved, in any club or organization, helps you gain leadership, confidence, introduces you to new people, and gives you a say in the matters concerning your school. I've had a lot of fun being president this year. I've enjoyed having the chance to work with a lot of great people, and I've also enjoyed helping to make important decisions on behalf of the students. This has been a memorable experience for me and I wish the best of luck to the Class of 2003 and all future classes!

Jenn Duff

Student Council President

SAC has been really great this year. Even though at times it has been stressful, I've really enjoyed working on SAC.

I'd like to say thank you to Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. Leystra, and thanks to all the grade reps for helping out.

Although some of our events didn't turn out as planned, I had fun. Hopefully next year the school spirit will be better.

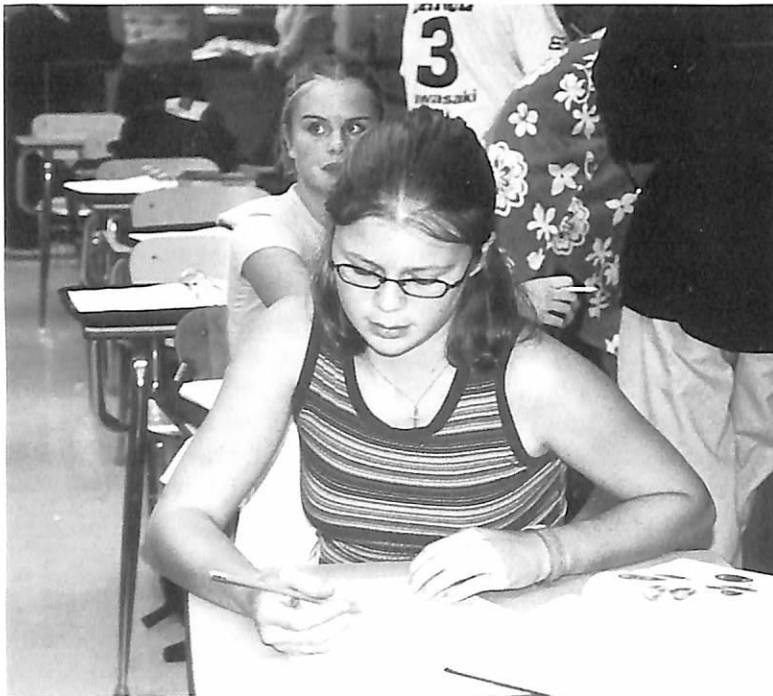

Thanks to everyone for making this an enjoyable experience and good luck to next year's SAC.

In the Beginning...

It was the best of times, it was the worst of times... it was grade nine. As we can all remember, grade nine is the first shaky step of high school. Students who were once the "big fish in the small pond" find themselves in the opposite situation. Nevertheless, grade nine is one of the most enjoyable years of high school, as students are able to meet many new people, and form lifelong friendships. The plot is just beginning to unravel, and characters are starting to develop. What is in store for all these characters? Keep reading.

2. Greg Sullivan hitting the books.

RIISING ACTION...

It was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness... it was grade ten. Students in grade ten find themselves in the rising action of the story. They have already established their characters, but they still do not know what is in store for their future. Tension begins to mount with the literacy test...and friendships are continuously tested through the ups and downs of the high school year. Suspense is mounting as to what will await these characters as they enter the next chapter of their lives. So far in the story, the "most bizarre" character is Mitchell Hedden. The "funniest" character is Todd Hurlock and the character that is setting all the latest trends is Melissa Milley...

Turning Point

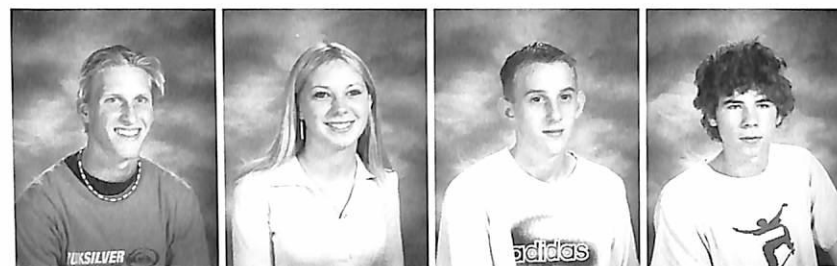

It was the season of light, it was the season of darkness...it was grade eleven. Students in grade eleven find themselves at the turning point of their high school careers. Their individual characters are by this point, well established, and now they are faced with an even bigger problem. With the end fast approaching, they have to figure out what they want to do after high school. The decision is not an easy one, and sometimes, it requires another chapter. Secondary problems, also arise, like conflicting schedules from driver's education, work, and extracurricular activities. Will these characters endure? Can they survive against the evil antagonists?

Denouement

We had everything before us, we had nothing before us...we were in grade twelve and OAC. Students now find themselves at the end of their high school careers, and looking towards the future. As the story comes to a close it is time to say farewell to a high school story- the characters, the setting, and the life that the protagonist has grown so accustomed to. It is true that the story is ending, but another chapter begins, filled with new challenges and opportunities. The book is not yet written, but each of us is the author of our own story--with hard work and determination, it could be a best seller.

Highschool. What an interesting 4 years. A lot of good and bad memories. The fights, the heartbreaks, the laughing till we cry, the crying till we laugh. The smiles, the giggles, the long conversations. I will miss all of it. To all my friends: I wish you all the very best. I'll miss you. tainted love

Valedictorian Address

▲Valedictorian, Mavis Wellington, addresses the graduating class.

*It seems like only yesterday we started
But now we've put away our books and pens
We'll go on with our lives once we have parted
But how can we say farewell to our friends?
The double dates, the parties and the dances
Cramming for a midterm until three
The hockey games, the Yoke and the romances
Soon North Lambton will be just a memory

Ladies and gentlemen, teachers and parents, fellow graduates. It seems like only yesterday I was 12 and watching Saved by the Bell reruns every single day. So naturally when I think of graduation, I think of the Saved by the Bell graduation song, and I just had to put it in here somewhere.

Now I got the idea for my speech from a talk show host (and for those of you who know me well, no I'm not going to use an Oprah episode, and for those of you who don't know me well, no I'm not doing a Jerry Springer final thought either). Nope, I'm using well known late night talk show host, David Letterman's top ten list. I have created my own top ten so without further ado, here are the top ten things I have learned in high school:

#10-Friends have impacted my life in so many ways. Keeping with the theme of my opening solo, each of us carries with us our own high school memories. When I look back at my high school career, I'm pretty sure that I'm not going to remember what this bone in my body is called or how to do pretty much anything related to calculus, sorry Miss Mancini. No, I'll remember those times with my friends. I'll remember goofing off in the halls in between classes, having contests of who can eat five crackers in one minute during lunch and making a breakdancing circle at dances. Friends are there through all of high school's ups and downs, fights with parents, hot new boyfriends, stressful days and finally today. They're the ones who listen, support and understand us best. Some friends will stay, while other may drift. As the closing of the saved by the bell graduation song goes:(plug your ears, I'm going to sing again) but years from now, no matter where we've travelled, we'll all look back and think about our friends.

Whatever happens, just remember all of the great times you've had together here.

#9-how to play a mean game of euchre. They think spares are for study and work. Ha!

#8-that I am proud to go to North Lambton high school. Despite the negative image NLSS gets while being compared to other school (it's so small, they don't have this and they don't have that), I can honestly say that North Lambton is a great school. I mean in which other school can you know almost everyone in the school? At which other school does no one really care how you dress or who you hang out with. We really are lucky to have such a friendly, small town high school. And if the big city Samia students want to think that we're all farmers, let them.

#7-Greg Hutton is going to be the next Mr. Moloy. Greg resembles Moloy so much it's scary, especially when Greg wears his pretty track suit number like Moloy and struts around the halls with his little clip board and whistle, shouting at all the girls, "Where's your soccer uniforms? My office, now."

#6-My parents are not the losers I once thought they were. I remember how I used to be so embarrassed to go shopping with my mom, I mean, someone might see me with her. Or how I thought it was so uncool to be dropped off by my dad in front of the school. But now I realize how wrong I was. Shopping with my mom is actually fun, moms have pretty good taste and usually a shopping trip with mom results in her buying something for me. And dad dropping me off in front of the school saves me from a long, boring bus ride. I thought they were so clueless to my problems, but they actually understand more than I realize. After all, they've been through most of them before. So to all of the moms and dads and family members out there, thank you for all of your support throughout the years. We wouldn't be here, right now, without you.

#5-Everyone has fallen up or down the stairs AT LEAST once. Admit it. And for many of us this is a common occurrence. Now I have learned tripping on the stairs should not be an embarrassing experience, in fact, you should be proud that you have provided that day's entertainment for everyone surrounding you. And just plain and simply, get back up and keep on going.

#4-Teachers are not the studious, strict figures I thought they were. In fact, they're actually complete nutcases. Here's a few examples: Mr. Moergli, a biology teacher, who wears sunglasses and a lab coat while rapping about, not a girl, or about partying or life in general, no he raps about....the cell? And Mr. Fitch, an English teacher, now he gets a little competitive. Now I'm not talking about basketball, I'm talking about canned food drives. Yes, the big dog gets downright dirty when it comes to the food drives, and for three years he has refused to lose to any other homeroom. And finally we come to the two unrecognizable English and resource teachers who disguise themselves in 70's clothes and pose as Sunny and Cher to belt out "Babe" in front of the whole school. Really, what normal person does these things? I must admit though that these nutcases have been the ones who have brought us to this point. That's a scary picture, because who knows how they might have rubbed off on us. Next thing we know is Dixon Bou will be up here singing Elvis. But thank-you to all of the teachers for sharing your knowledge with us, for making what might seem like a completely boring topic actually a little bit fun and for simply just teaching.

#3-"Sometimes you gotta dance like there's nobody watching". Do you remember the first days of grade 9 where image was everything-how you dressed, who you talked to, even what you ate. I sure do. I thought that everybody was watching me and cared so much about what everyone thought. But if you want to be truly happy, you can't base your decisions on what anyone else thinks. You're in charge of your own destiny so trust in yourself, make your own decisions and don't pay any attention to what anyone else thinks. Don't dance like everybody is watching, you gotta dance like nobody is watching.

#2-Caf food is not as bad as the movies portray it to be. I looked forward to grilled cheese Thursdays. And nothing starts off a day better than a freshly baked chocolate chip cookie from the caf. Mmmmmm, so good!

#1-There is still so much to learn. This is not the end. This is only the beginning. Each of us is writing our own magnificent book. And as we close this chapter, we open a great many new ones. Now the beauty of this book is that it isn't a travel guide to follow, but more of an adventure story to undertake. The chapters to come are not yet written, may even still be uncertain, but we have control of which direction this adventure will take.....and the possibilities are endless. So go, make a difference, explore unfamiliar places, touch lives, love, laugh, live, journey wherever your dreams may lead you, and write the most extraordinary tale you can imagine.

Standing at the Edge of Tomorrow

On Friday, October 11, the slightly oversized graduating class of 2002 and their families filled the gymnasium to celebrate earning their Ontario Secondary School Diplomas.

Jane Bryce, a trustee from the Lambton Kent District School Board was on hand to greet and congratulate the graduates, as well as Bryan Aitken, the chairperson of NLSS School Council. Mr. Perry addressed the graduates and gave them many words of wisdom. "In one's chosen work, it is especially rewarding to see the results of one's efforts...we teachers work and wait, sometimes for years to see the results of our efforts. And so tonight, that is how my

"They have been out in the wide world and they have the self-assured look of those that have discovered that there is life after NLSS and that it is good and exciting, and meaningful, and filled with new people, places and possibilities. -Mr. Perry colleagues and I see you. In a sense, you are our harvest, our reward. No one is more pleased to see you when you come home than we are. When you come home, you validate our lives as teachers."

The Senior Concert Band as well as the Vocal Connection provided some entertainment for the crowd, and then the graduates walked up, one by one, to receive their diplomas. The awards ceremony followed and then Mavis Wellington gave her valedictory address. After the moving speech, the graduates exited in a proud recessional complemented by the NLSS Senior Band.

Debbie Baltessen, Dave Auld and Ashley Albert burst with pride as they watch their fellow graduates accept their diplomas

Andrea Brouwer, Rebecca Lenting and Melissa VanEngelen say, "Stick a fork in us, we're done!"

Mr. Perry shares his knowledge with the newest crop of graduates. How can Mr. Perry concentrate with those beautiful pumpkins around him?

All of the Ontario Scholars proudly pose on stage. "Congratulations!" (get it?)

Congratulations graduates!

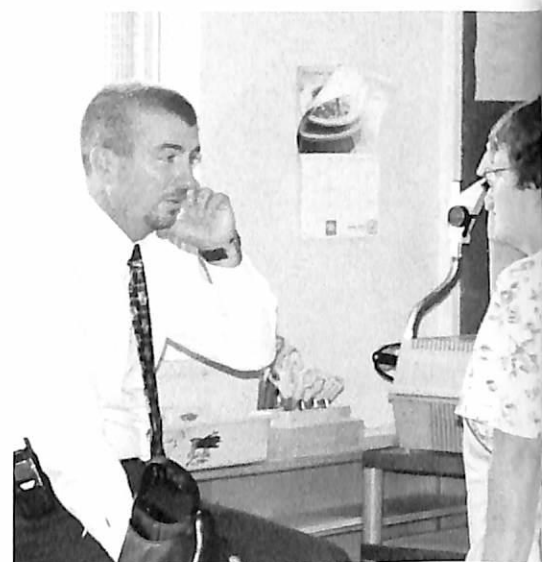

Mr. Sands, is that a baseball you're throwing? It looks more like an egg!

Mrs. Grimwood doesn't like working with this photocopier, she prefers a salad spinner any day.

This is serious stuff Mr. Perry. Who is that playing 'Peek a Boo'?

Mr. Moergeli, eager to get with the times, has decided to change the cell rap to the shoe rap.

There, there, Mr. Warner. Even though Mrs. Grimwood is retiring, she'll still write and come visit you sometimes.

Mrs. Ward is looking "fly" before graduation.

Mr. Murree chill axes in the hallway.

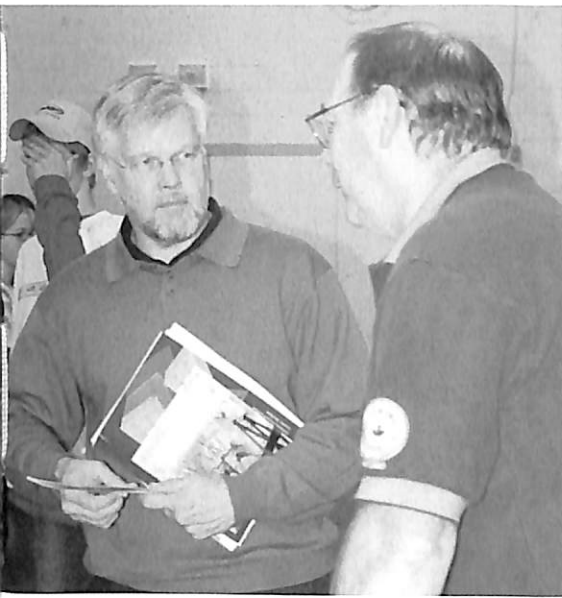

Mr. "Guy Smiley" Warner surveys the cafeteria, keeping the "youngins" in line.

Staff

Due to the overwhelming response of staff photos on picture day (2), there is no portrait page. Instead, here are 4 fun-filled pages of those people who work so hard to educate, feed and clean up after us students.

What are you lookin' at Mr. McNulty?

Nice outfit, Mrs. Johnson! Looks like pink is the new blue and white!

Cool hat, Mr. Tichenoff!

Phyllis keeps the bling-bling in count.

Miss Pardo, who are you talking too? What is so funny?

Mr. Perry at graduation - you're awfully happy! It's not like you are graduating.

What ya got there, Mrs. Sivell

Mr. Moloy thinks that these glasses make him look smarter ...

Always a friendly face in the hallways - Miss Sippel smiles for our photographer.

Uh oh ... Mr. Jackson doesn't look too pleased.

Mrs. VanDinther, Mrs. Willick, Mrs. Howden, Mrs. Vandeschoot and Mrs. Jory bond with the scary weird hockey guy during intermission. Hey, where's Mrs. Piquette?

Mrs. Fenner doesn't look too pleased about having her picture taken. Mrs. Buechler, on the other hand, looks very pleased with the hard work of her amazing yearbook photographer.

Mr. Murree showing off his lacrosse skills behind the school. Hey, is that the egg that Mr. Sands was tossing around?

Whoa, Mr. Hansen! Somebody is a happy camper today!

Miss Noble goes over her notes before class.

A DAY IN THE LIFE

Hey Anthony Reckman, PUT THAT POP BACK! Oh, you're filling the pop machine, sure.

Hey Kristin Holbrook, what are you doing in the hallway? Did you get thrown out of class for sleeping. Nice PJs, pyjama girl.

Holy Danielle Luckhart. I didn't realize that it was cool to close your eyes when a dedicated yearbook photographer takes your picture. Jenna McIntyre and Susi Schoeley don't find it very amusing either.

J-Rod Charron gives a shout out to his homeboys.

Gee Ann Bruce and Wes Finucan, is that a cat Ann's holding? What's its name? Marlo?

Lisa Eastman thinks that Brittany Deschutter is just as weird as we do for leaning down in a weird way to try and get out of the picture. Sherri Steinginga just doesn't care.

Every time I see this picture I have to laugh, because what IS that thing? I definitely think that Rachael Bryson is going off the rails on the crazy train.

Brian Coene is chillin out, maxin, relaxin all cool, shootin some b-ball outside of the school...oh wait...no he's not.

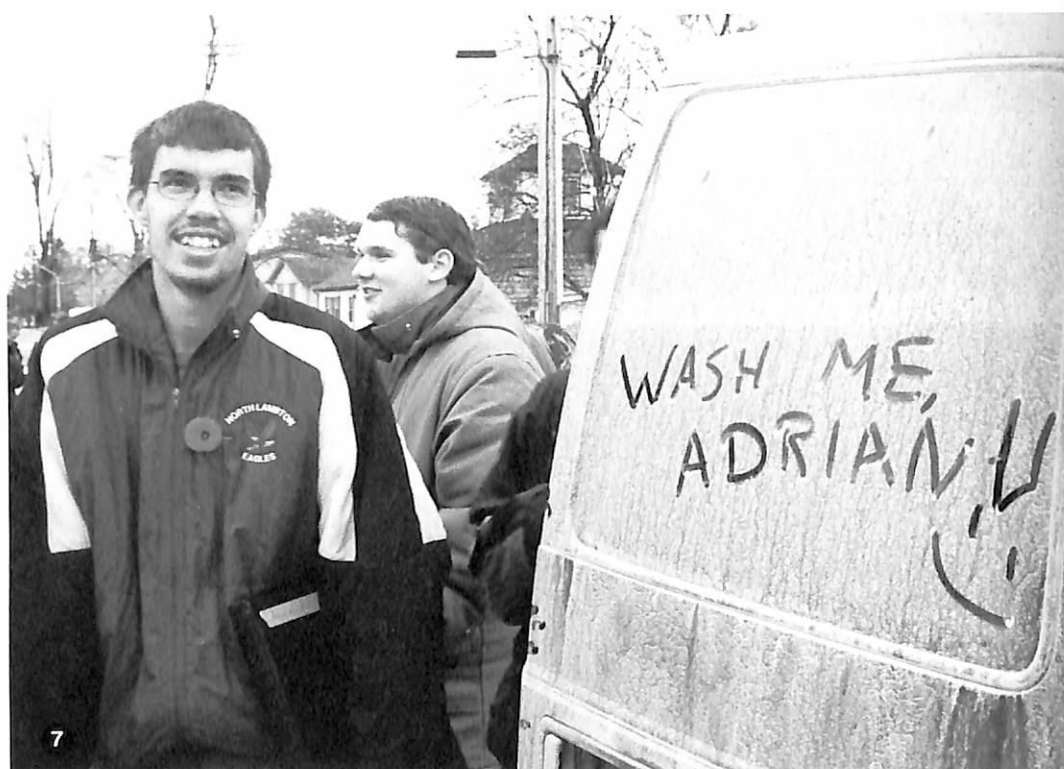

Why are you guys so excited? Are you watching the first lunar landing with Neil Armstrong or is Nick Cave serenading you with his outstanding version of "Let it be"?

Hey Courtney Cook, Amy Robinson and Stacey Morris, why don't you hop aboard the peace train with Cat Stevens?

Chillin' in the Halls...North Lambton Style

1 Holy Shane Solway, did you get in a fight with Mike Kwarciak. Oh no, you couldn't have, because if you did you would have a lot more than a broken arm.

2 Kelsey Cook sits innocently in front of the yearbook thermometer. Little does she know that this would be the last time that anyone would see it's pristine beauty before it was defaced. Beautiful isn't it?

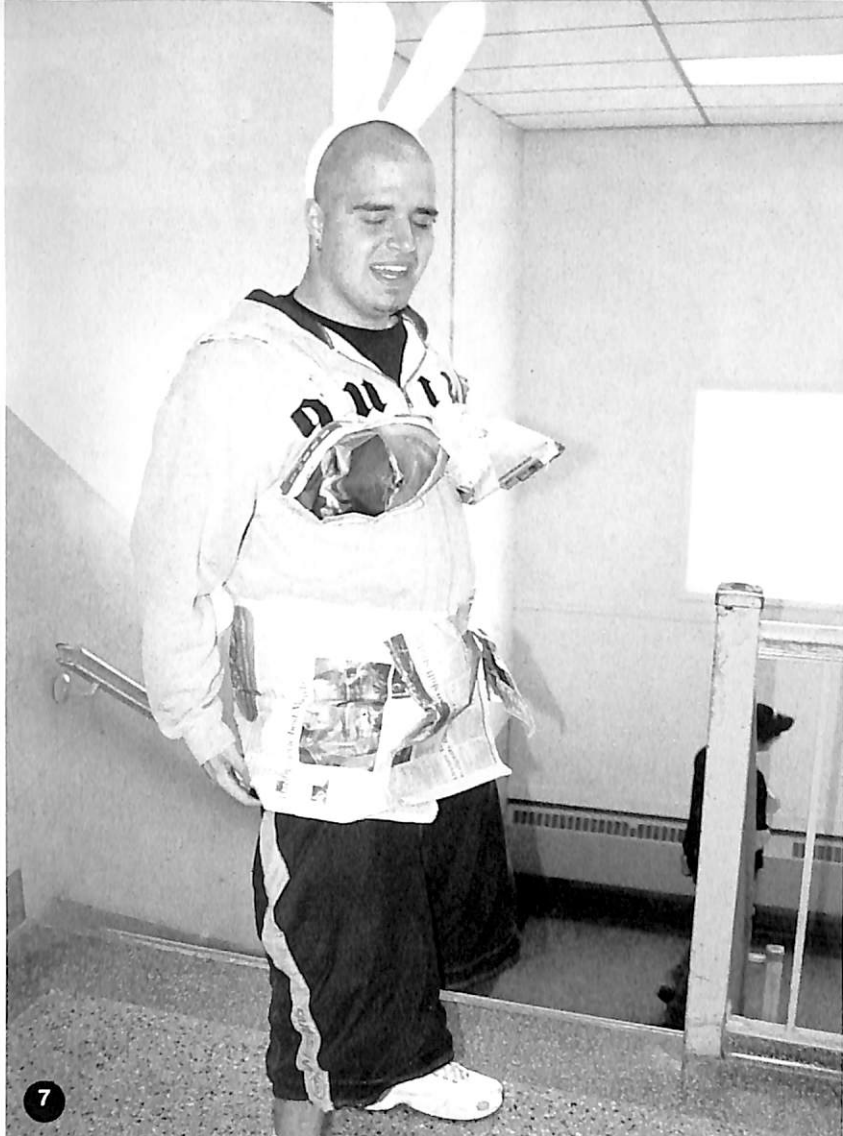

3 Yes, there are two number twos. Holly McGregor, Jamie Cloud and Jordanna Stanlake eat some skittles in the caf. Mike Kwarciak likes skittles, so next time you see him, give him a few.

4 Holy Mackenzie Brown, eat smores much?

5 Dan Stephenson shows his gangsta' thug roots while chillaxin' in Mr. Perry's grade twelve English class.

6 Chandel Eveleigh and Kelly Elijah, stand in the hallway much?

7 Wash me Adrian Koolen!

7 Dave VanDinther appears to be dressed as some sort of female rabbit wrapped in newspaper...he's probably just trying to get Johnny Cash's attention.

8 Mike Kwarciak says, "Break it up guys, you're sitting a little too close for this educational environment" to Blake Gatshene and Marissa VanEngelen.

9 When I hear people use the phrase, "Every picture tells a story," I imagine some sort of short story, like a children's book. However, every time I see this picture of Jody Fuller, I think--wow--novel.

10 Picking your nose with your finger is bad enough, let alone using your tongue. You better hope Mike Kwarciak doesn't catch you doing that or else he might lay the smack down!

11 Sarah Delorme and Wendy Tellier deliver the morning announcements.

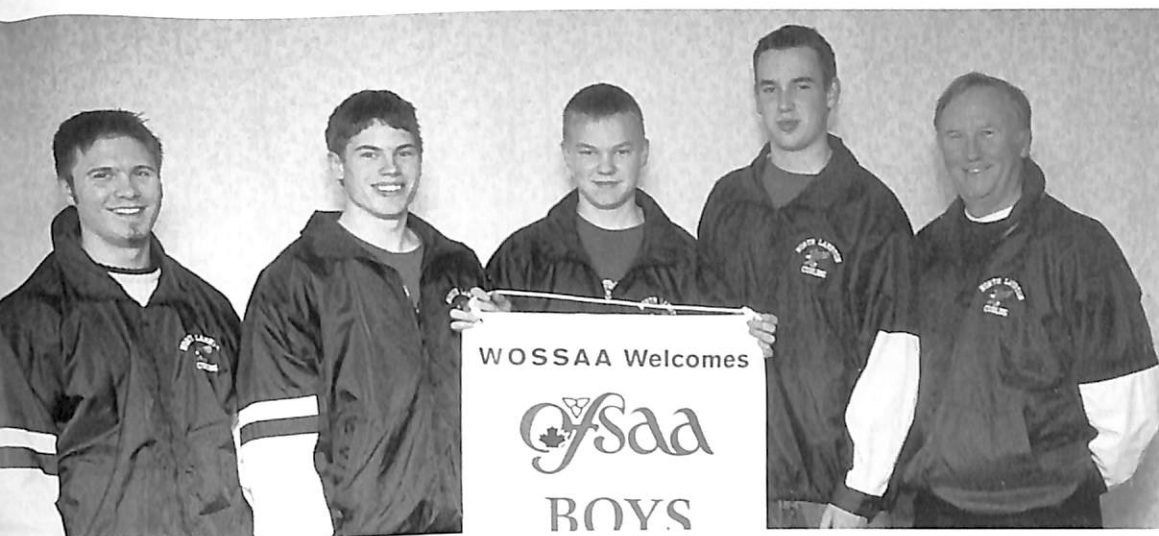

12 Christine Perkins and Crystal Curts eat stuff and play cards. Uh oh...watch out girls, here comes Mike Kwarciak--playing cards during class is a big "no-no" in his books.

ATHLETIC BANQUET

BORN TO ROCK

Curling

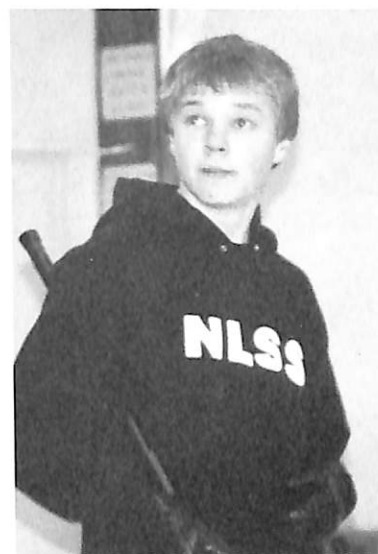

The Senior Boys Curling squad (Mike Callan, Jeff Wilson, Jordan Douglas and Adam Douglas) proudly pose at W.O.S.S.A. with their coach.

Why don't Kyla Willert and Nicci Williamson take a picture of that rock, it'll last longer! Oh wait, that's what yearbook is for. You're welcome.

Rock on, Mike Callan!

When one is not curling, one should always strike an "I'm thinking about curling pose" like this young curler.

Keep an eye on that rock boys! It's not going to pull a fast one on Adam Douglas and Jeff Wilson!

SPIKE AND DIVE

To sum up the senior boys' volleyball season, the word "fun" comes to mind. Going into the season, the team had high hopes of a strong finish, and that they did. The boys finished seeded second after regular season play and eventually bowed out in the finals. Much of the credit for the team's success is due to the coaching of Tom Hales. Season highlights include:

- Soup being introduced to the Lebaro position
- Lucus making his debut with some sweet kicks!
- Donnie becoming a setter
- Mama T's, C4's and Beat2 being thrown down
- A successful tournament in Chatham, the day after commencement, where some players played better than others.

3) The Junior girls' volleyball team strikes a winning pose for the camera. Team members include: front row, Rebecca Healy, Jenna Hill, Josee Wilson, Kim Moniz, Kelly Hackney, Jillian Hamilton. Back row, Alaina Morris, Krista Dewsbury, Alaina Frayne, Stephanie George, Meghan Watson and Katie Watson.

4) The Senior girls' volleyball team had an unbelievably awesome season, going all the way to OFSAA! Team members are: front row, Coach Brian Maxfield, Pam Miner, Sam Kristoferson, Paula Harper, Josta Cole and Jenn Healy. Back row, Kristen Little, Dayna McKay, Deanna Bryson, Leah Henderson, Katie Vanos, Jenni Vanos and coach Jeff Wilson.

5) Darcy Bressette and Tyler Bragg prove that four hands are better than two.

6) Spencer Donald sets up Blake Gatshene for a spike.

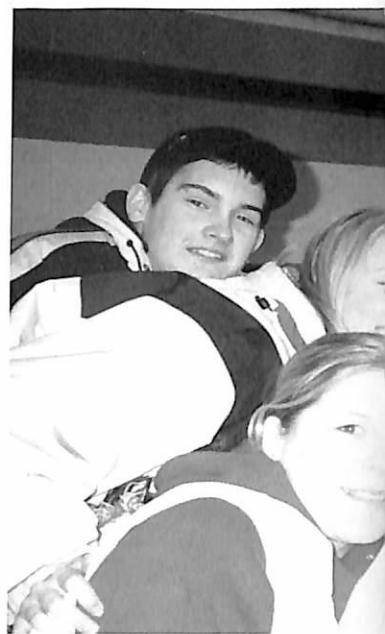

Pride

Hockey is a word that has always been closely associated with NLSS, and for good reason. Our Eagles have always been at the top of the standings, and this year was no exception. The girls' hockey teams both had excellent seasons. Those burgundy jerseys not only skated to victory in one tournament, but in two! The lady eagles impressed many onlookers with their skills and talents, and according to Mrs. Johnson, things are looking good for the future of girl's hockey at North Lambton.

The boys' teams also had an excellent record at their tournament. When asked about hockey at NLSS, one anonymous student summed it all up into one word: "Pride."

Dan Greenwood anticipates the drop of the puck during the LSSAA playoff finals.

year. The senior team pummeled the competition in league play and at the end of the season, they were declared the LSSAA finalists. The intermediate and junior teams both had good seasons as well, with the intermediate team having an impressive 2-1

The last two players of the original girls hockey team, Josta Cole and Brianne Hutton pose with their coach of five years, Mrs. Johnson.

Members of the other girls' hockey team snuggle up to the reporter in hopes of some air time.

Shootin' Hoops

Sr. Boys Basketball

One word that describes our season....heart. The team struggled this year, but with good reason. Absent were two towers that would have helped out substantially! Knowing that this year was going to be a tough one, "Mad Man" Murree put it upon himself to have his team show up for every game and leave it on the floor...and that they did.

Team Highlights:

- Winning the first two games of a tournament and then being somehow eliminated.
- The Daddy coming aboard in mid-season
- Classic feud with the Cyclones continued
- Scotty's "hat hair"
- Spencer Donald

Kristen Little makes a foul shot as Shaunda Moir looks on.

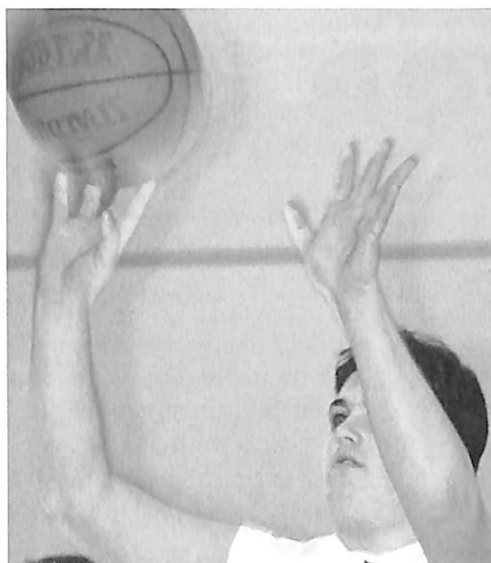

Jeff Wilson gets ready for the attack.

Mr. Murree gives his girls team some pointers.

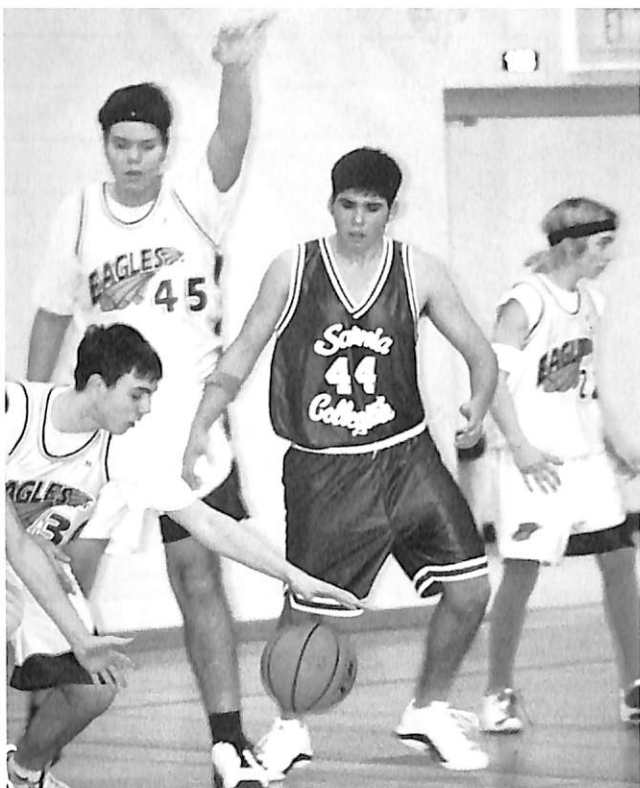

Dayna McKay reaches high and knocks the ball out of the opponent's hand.

Greg Vandeschoot shows the perfect form for the 3-point shot.

The boys team has a little on court action against Sarnia Collegiate. Snazzy uniforms!

Johnny Klumpkens attacks his opponent.

Garrett Moons gets ready for a lay up.

Jenn Duff appears to be lost and laughing as usual. Jenn, I think you should get out of the key...no one else is in there.

JUST FOR KICKS

The senior boys enjoyed a great season in LSSAA action this year. They started the year off well with a win and a tie against top teams St. Clair and St. Christopher's, but were unable to overcome an injury late in the season to their star player, Greg Devet. They finished with a record of 2-4-1 and fell just short of a berth to LSSAA playoffs. Season highlights were Murdock's mohawk, Roger's sweet D and Blake's amazing rookie season as a goalie. Thanks to Mrs. J for coaching us. Better luck next year boys.

The junior boys soccer team did well, finishing near the top of the league in the regular season, but fell to our archenemy, LCCVI, in the playoffs. Highlights included our excellent forward line, Jeff's play at sweeper, and Degroot's punishing play in net. Thanks to Greg Devet, Eric VanEngelen and Mrs. J for coaching
-Greg Devet

Wes Finucan looks slightly puzzled on the field.

Brent Degroot puts a new "spin" on the game of soccer.

Greg Devet lets his inner eagle soar on the soccer field.

Sarah Rutten and Jenn Duff are slacking off, probably thinking about Horvath. Get your heads in the game ladies!

Sarah Tremain, Laura Jamieson, Dayna VanRiel, Susan Verberk, Diamond VanKessel, Cindy Vermeer and Meaghan VanEngelen take a time out from their tournament to eat some fruit. Mmmmm...mmmmm...fruit.

Members of the senior girls soccer team pose for a picture. Apparently, coach Mr. Moloy thinks that he is supposed to be a mermaid. A word to the wise Mr. Moloy- mermaids, or mermen do not wear tracksuits, sunglasses or hats.

Members of the junior girls soccer team strike a pose after a game. They look very warm.

Wow! Breanne Venema, can your arms go back any further? Maybe you should go into gymnastics!

Fast-Paced Fun

Derek McDonald, Jamie Sterling and Sarah Downie set the pace.

Dave Burr and Joel Fraser take a leisurely run around the track.

Chris Pettigrew leads the pack.

Sarah Downie and Jamie Sterling warm up before a run to avoid sprains.

Andrea Brouwer and Jenni Vanos stretch out before a big run.

Are David Burr, Ashley Bent and Courtnee Rogers late for class? Why, no silly! They're just going for a jog.

A little less standing and a little more running please.

Chris Pettigrew invents his own way to keep warm during this late fall jog.

DJ Verroen tries to master walking with javelins.

OUCH!

It's Rugby Time

The ladies of NLSS make strategy in a huddle.

Gina Caris has all the right rugby moves!

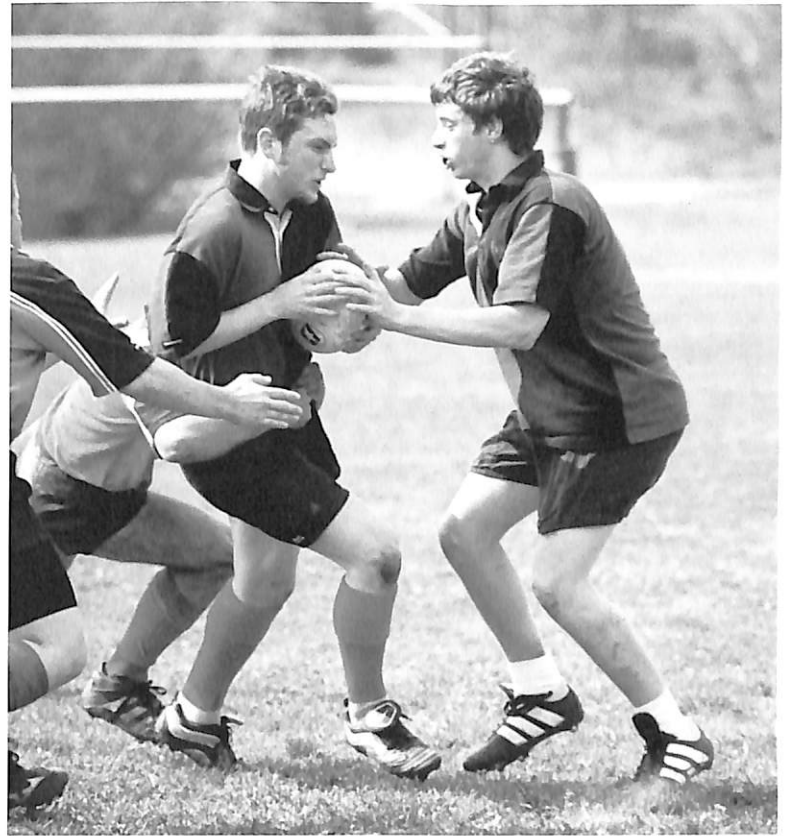

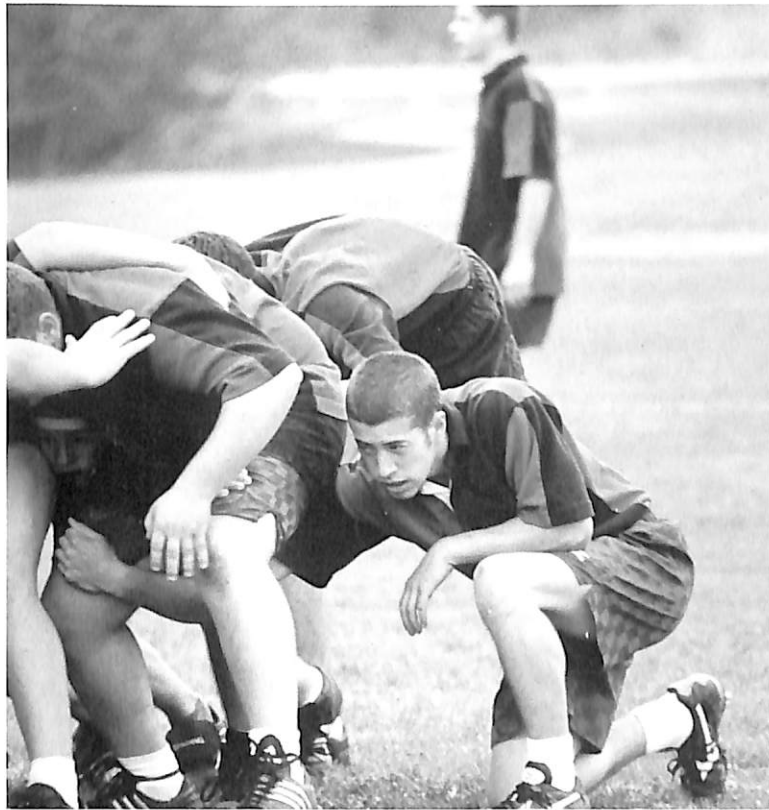

Our girls are dynamite - they blast their way thru the opponents!

OUCH!
OUCH!
OUCH!
POW!

In a sport like this, your teammates had better be your friends!

Our boys rugby team is tough enough to handle all the pain and strong enough to deliver some of their own.

No, I don't think our boys rugby team is saying a prayer?

Ringette my Bell!

"What kind of call is that! You're a crazy man!" wonders Mr Hornweg.

Christine Perkins, Aliison Price and Candace Hurmans take the time out for yearbook. Thanks girls!

Ok, heres the plan. You guys huddle and we'll take the picture.

Jamie Prong, Jenn Healy, Rebecca Healy, Laura Desjardin, Gina Caris, Courtnee Rogers, Candace Hurkmans, Tara Mason, Meaghan Watson, Jenn Duff, Katelyn Healy, Alex Sanger, Jusee Wilson, Allison Price, Christine Perkins and missing from picture is Leah Henderson and Jenny McFarlane.

Food rreee!

NLSS Golf

Mrs. Lowe, Johnny Klumpkens, Jenna Goulet, Tim Beernik, Spencer Donald, Carlie Allen, Greg Vanlieshout, Jenny McFarlane, Dallas Cundick, Dayna McKay and Danielle Dunlop are all part of our great golf team!

Float like a Butterfly, Sting like a Bee!

Dan Perry is about to show that birdie who's boss.

"Where is that crazy birdie?" asks Greg VanLieshout. "Don't worry Greg, it's right there," says Ted Soepboer.

Penny Willsie and Brian Scott watch in amazement.

Greg VanDeschoot, I thought this was badminton practice, not laying on the ground practice!

BATTER UP!

Look up, wayyy up, Shawn

Ben Douglas getting ready to smoke one by the batter.

Ryan Morris is sending a sign to the pitcher. We think it might be, "Shin pads rule."

Josh Stewart is going to go yardage with this one.

Baseball is not all glory! Jamie Scherer shows his green thumb.

Going Once . . . Going Twice . . .

This year's fourth annual Unique Athletic Auction was a huge success. On Nov. 22, 2003, all of the hard work put in by the Athletic Association paid off. After canvassing the neighborhoods and towns, we brought in over 260 items. Some of the big ticket items included the butcher's block donated from the NLSS construction class, Men's and Women's Canadian Olympic Gold Medal framed prints, donated by the Forest Optimist, and an autographed Ottawa Senators jersey. Some of the other exciting items included golf packages, VIA rail passes, tables, trees, jewelry and hair care products. In total, the auction raised $6800.00 for NLSS athletics! A big thank you to the Athletic Association members who collected the items and helped out at the auction. Also, we would really like to thank Mrs. Johnson. Without her help, athletics at North Lambton would not be the same.

SUPER HELMET DAY

TRIATHLON 2003,
PINERY PROVINCIAL PARK

Joel Fraser and Blake Faulds, the "esteemed" two man champs. Way to go!

Some super hot old men watch these guys run. Pretty distracting, eh boys?

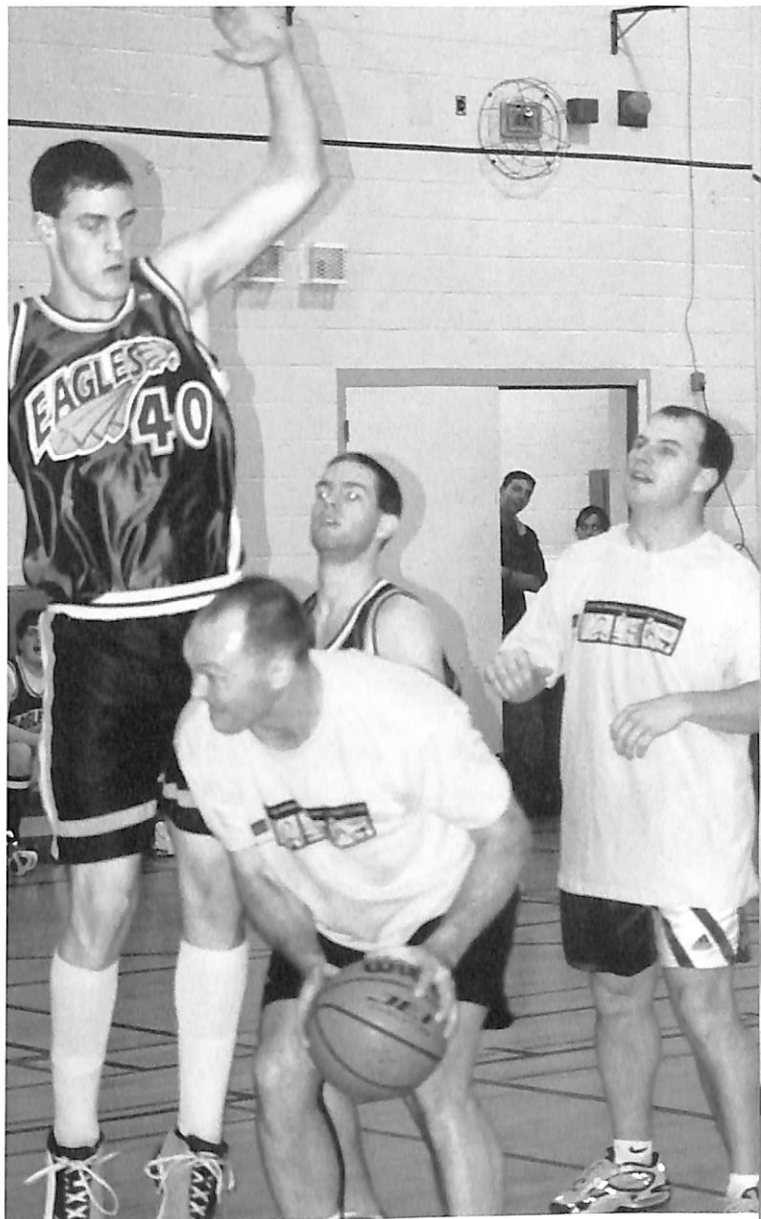

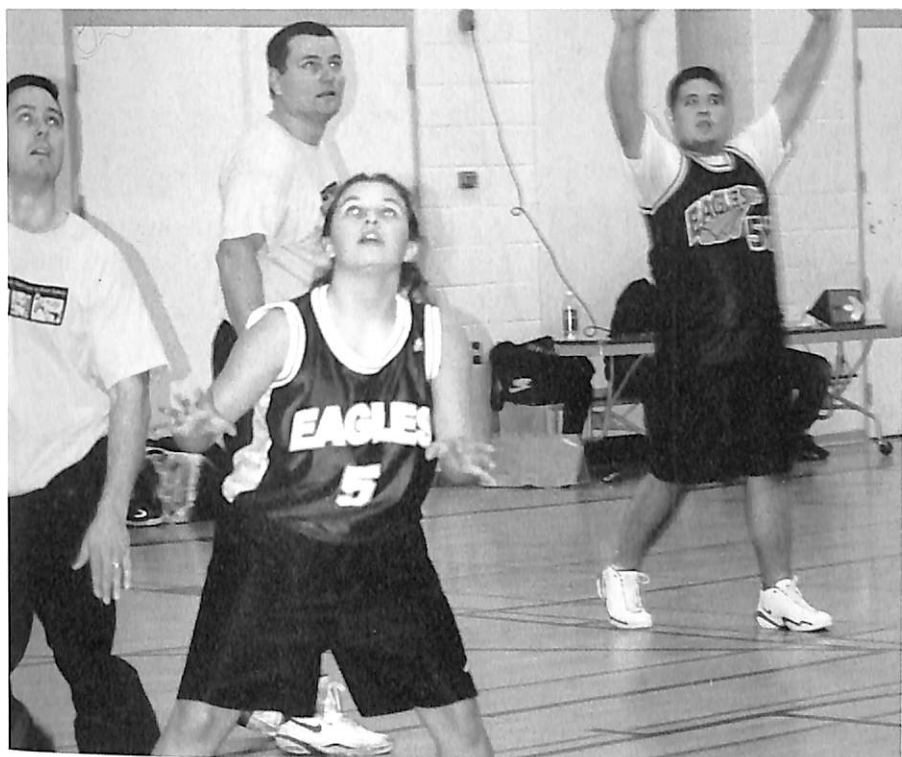

At least Amber Gallant follows the rules of the road. Sweet helmet Amber!

While everyone else concentrates on making weird faces, Shawn Quinn and Dan Greenwood sneakily take the lead. C'mon guys, don't you care or are you just going to..."Let it be"?

Sam Kristoferson, Leah Henderson and Breanne Vennema don't seem to realize that this is a triathlon, not a "posing for a picture a-thon". I guess they can't resist Patty Sutton's amazingly hot red helmet.

Best Wishes and Fond Farewells

I have taught Family Studies at North Lambton Secondary School for almost ten years and it has been a very pleasant and rewarding experience for me. Over the years, I have seen so many changes in education and I have come to realize that there will always be challenges and frustrations in the teaching profession that have to be met. As a parent, it is necessary to be consistent and persistent with one's children and as a teacher it is necessary to be the same with one's students. Just as a parent's goal is to nurture and guide their children so that they may be launched into society as responsible citizens, so a teacher nurtures and guides their students so that graduation is a reality and life-long learning remains a goal.

- M. Grimwood

Best Wishes to Mr. Sheeler for a speedy recovery from his car accident. We look forward to having you back next year. A speedy recovery to one of our favourite custodians, Diane McEwen, also from her car accident.

Mrs. Grimwood poses with three of her favourite students, Jodi Falconer, Ashley Devine and Jody Fuller.

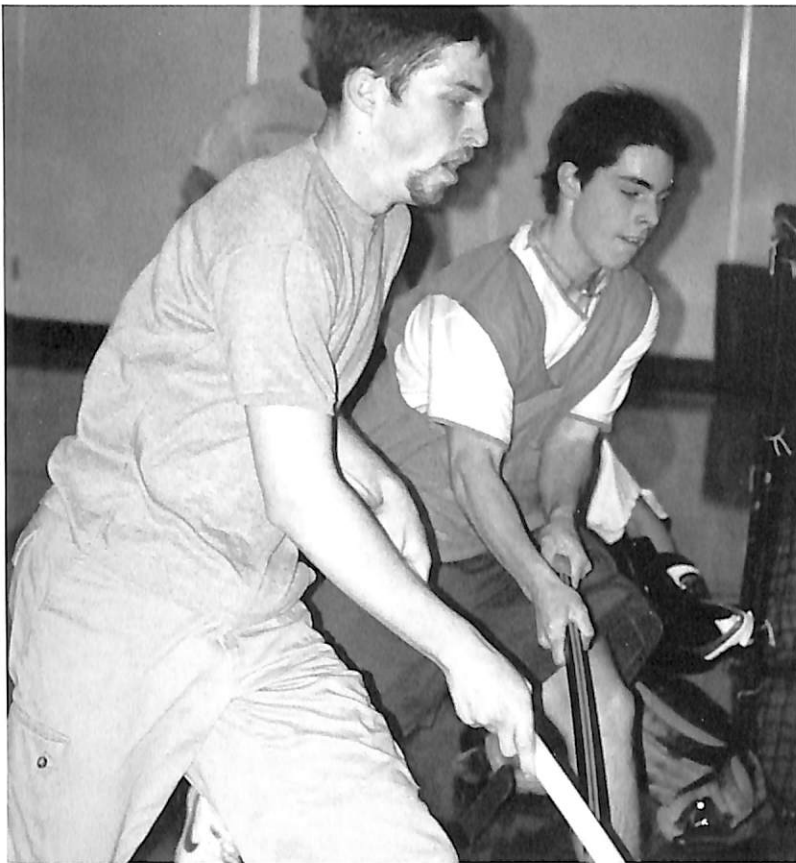

Miss Wellington and Mrs. Grimwood have worked together in the family studies department.

Also leaving us this year:
Mr. Kalia, Mr. Illman and Mr. Gusba will all be re-entering retirement.

Mrs. Fader will be teaching at St. Clair and Mr. McAnulty will be teaching at SCITS.

The Quest for the Cup

Watch out Matt Montgomery! Brendan Wouters is coming at you!

Eagle Cup Champs: Front row: Keegan Wilcox, Ryan Hamilton, Greg VanLieshout.
Back row: Jamie Zavitz, Brendan Wouters and Darryl Thomas.

Dallas Cundick takes a break from all of that hard work.

Is this floor hockey, or some sort of axe-murderer movie?

Room 203...

...Where it's always 7 Minutes to 2.

The yearbook room. Wow. The room that we have worked in all year (or actually the last two weeks in June), slaving away on this yearbook. Ah, the yearbook. What an interesting experience. Unless you come into room 203 on a regular basis and see the state of it, you really have no idea how much work goes into this book. But it wasn't all work. Well, actually, yes it was, but we, in the yearbook club, had a lot of fun listening to Kim Mitchell, Nick Cave and Cats. While going through this book, you may notice that the captions aren't really relevant and do not make a lot of sense. Sorry. When you spend a lot of time in a seafoam green room that suffers from a lack of ventilation, you sort of lose your grip on reality. So, once again, sorry.

However, we are not sorry for making such an amazing yearbook. We believe that if Cat Stevens or Kim Mitchell were to read this yearbook, they would write a song about it.

We'd like to thank Brad (our Friesen yearbook guy) for all his inspiration. We'd also like to thank Mike Kwarciak for being such a good sport. We'd also like to thank all of those random people who felt sorry for us and decided to help out. We really appreciate your kindness. We'd like to thank the clock for always informing us of what time it really is. It will always be 7 to 2 in our hearts.

The Yearbook Staff

Mrs. Mancini waits patiently in line to buy a sucker. Maybe it's for Mike Kwarciak.

Katie Daubs, Dayna VanRiel, Jodi Falconer and Jody Fuller look pretty awestruck. Who can blame them, do you know who that is in the middle? It's BRAD from Friesens!

Susan Verberk scans the "Gourmet" lollipop tree for a sucker for Mike Kwarciak. Just a little hint, Susan...he prefers brown...anything brown...especially llamas.

I think Mrs. Buechler is listening to Nick Cave sing "Let it Be". She seems to be hiding from Nick's scary trans-gender voice. You can run, but you can't hide Mrs. Buechler.

Hey Jodi Falconer, put the gun down! 7 to 2 is not the appropriate time to be shooting anything! Mike Kwarciak would be disappointed.

Katie Daubs has always had the biggest patio. Maybe that's why she can relate to Kim Mithcell so well!

Jody Fuller just found out that Brad is a happily married man. She does not look like a happy camper.

Hey Yvonne Fuller, is the yearbook staff invited to the tea party taking place on your head, or is it only for Mike Kwarciak?

Uh, oh, Dayna VanRiel...it's 7 to 2, and you know what that means.

Ashley Devine! Mike Kwarciak says, "Fix your hair!"

Shawn, you look HAPPY! HAPPY! HAPPY! to be working on Yearbook.

Wow Mrs. Buechler, don't make Brianne Butt and Dayna VanRiel cry...yearbook is all about FUN! Mike Kwarciak wouldn't have it any other way.

Class of 2003

What is Class of 2003? It's a group of highly talented individuals who bring you such fun events as semi-formal, prom and the talent show. "Wow," you must be saying to yourself, "those events sure are fun, where do I sign up?" But before you get totally swept up in all the excitement, remember that all members are in their last year before post-secondary at NLSS. Mr. Perry and Mlle. Kingdon are the staff advisors for C03, and this year's executive included Jenn Duff (president), Katie Daubs (vice-president), Sheryl Smits (treasurer) and Alicia Pang (secretary). The group meets every Tuesday in room 107 to discuss and plan upcoming events. This year was an excellent year for the Class of 2003, and they added a couple of new and exciting events like Family Feud to the roster. All of the events were a big success--thanks to all the hard work from the group. The legacy of this awesome group will live on thanks to the class' gift of the stained glass eagle--made by Mrs. Ward and members of her manufacturing club.

I doubt that Mlle. Kingdon is as excited as Danielle Luckhart and Jenn Duff are about that Chewbakka picture.

Survey Says...Louie Anderson (aka Spencer Donald) fires the questions in Fast Money round while Jenn Duff and Katie Daubs get ready to buzz.

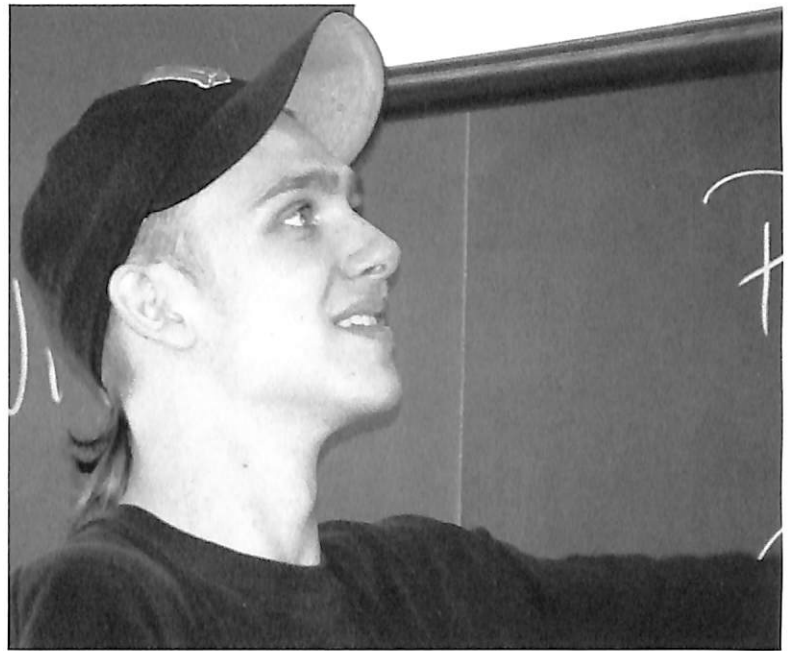

Jodi Falconer, Jody Fuller, Ashley Devine and Brianne Butt grab a quick bite to eat before Jenn Duff starts the meeting.

Suzi Schoeley and Pam Miner try to pick out a prom gift in the midst of all the confusion.

SAC

Student Council is an elected group of students who run fun events like grade nine orientation, the Halloween dance, pajama days, video dances and other assorted fun days. This group puts in a lot of hard work and effort through out the year to make our school year a little more enjoyable, and a lot more fun! This year's was Jenny Veens and her executive included Danielle Luckhart, Suzi Schoeley, Leah Henderson and Sarah Tremain.

Do Danielle Luckhart and Suzi Schoeley have anything better to do than get their picture taken? Hilary Lean and Katie Vanos wonder.

Mike Kwarciak shows fellow SAC members some great ideas for next year.

It's okay, Suzi, some people may think you look cool in your pyjamas.

Hey Danielle and Suzi! Where's LEM 2000?

I think Danielle and Sarah should dress more appropriately for school and stop carrying around big bags of candy. I mean really ladies, lets set a good example.

Riding the Waves

Beach Day was a huge hit at NLSS this year! Students forgot about the cold weather outside and opted for a summer look.

Mr. Hanson and Mr. Dumais show off their awesome beach wear.

Sarah Tremain and Danielle Luckhart are all set to hit those waves.

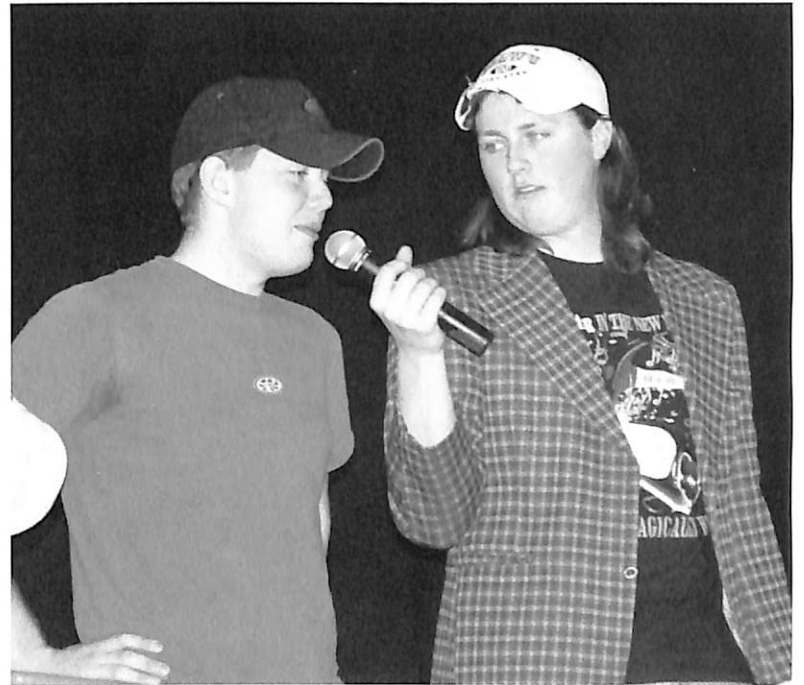

Watch out for that wave Susi Schoeley, Alicia Billings, Leah Henderson, Cam Birch, Blake Flauds, Jolene, Katie Vanos, Courtnee Rogers, Dave Auld, Becky Healy and Karla Ann Harrison!

Jamie Core, Jenni Vanos and Destiny Jennings are cooling down with some refreshing popsicles. Sweet hat Destiny!

Dysfunctional Family Fun

Quick Jodi Falconer! What is the most disgusting part of a woman's body? "Ummm...chest?" (hideous hand motion)

Rebecca Lenting and Brianne Butt wait patiently for the next skill testing question.

Is it Louie Anderosn or Spencer Donald?? No one will ever know.

Ben Morgan shows off his incredible smarts.

Rebecca Lenting, Andrea Brouwer, Melissa VanEnglen, Ben Morgan and Lyndsey Sitlington, the Family Feud Champs! (Wow, who made that incredible sign?)

A Visit from an Olympian

Jenni Vanos checks out the olympic medals.

On February 5, 2003, North Lambton Secondary School was honoured to have a special visitor. Alison Korn, the silver and bronze Olympic rowing medallist, spoke to all of the North Lambton students.

Korn grew up in Ottawa where she participated in many sports. She enjoyed a mediocre high school career in basketball and went on to play basketball and women's hockey for McGill University.

In her last year of university, Alison reluctantly tried rowing with a friend. Immediately Alison showed great strength in the sport. She rowed for her school team, and upon her coach's suggestion, she decided to try out for the Women's Eight Canadian Rowing Team.

After a lot of hard work and strenuous physical activity, Alison made the National Team. However, shortly after receiving the good news, Alison began to notice stabbing pains in her chest. She ignored the pains until they were too great to bear. When Alison finally sought medical attention, the news was not good. She had a broken rib and would have to forfeit her spot on the team.

Down, but certainly not out, Allison underwent physiotherapy, and she was soon ready to participate in the Summer Olympics of 1996, in Atlanta, Georgia. Allison and her teammates rowed their way to an unbelievable second place finish in the Women's Eight.

Allison returned to the Olympic scene in 2000 in Sydney, Australia. The team was again, a fierce competitor in the rowing division, and at the end of the race, they found themselves on the medal podium with a bronze medal finish.

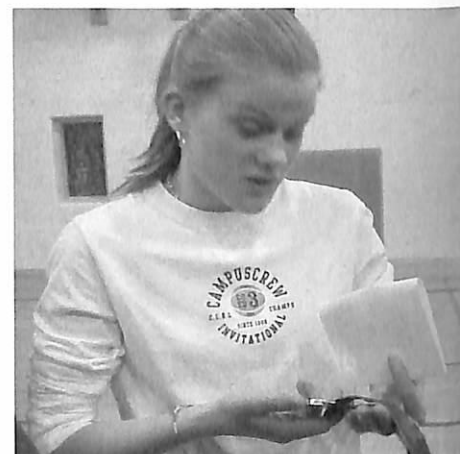

It was evident from Allison's presentation, that rowing has changed her life. She shared her experience with the students of North Lambton and encouraged them to become involved with sports, and to enjoy themselves while doing so.

Holy, Mr. Perry! Could you get any more excited? It's not yours to keep!

Tina George and Jennifer George receive an autograph from Alison.

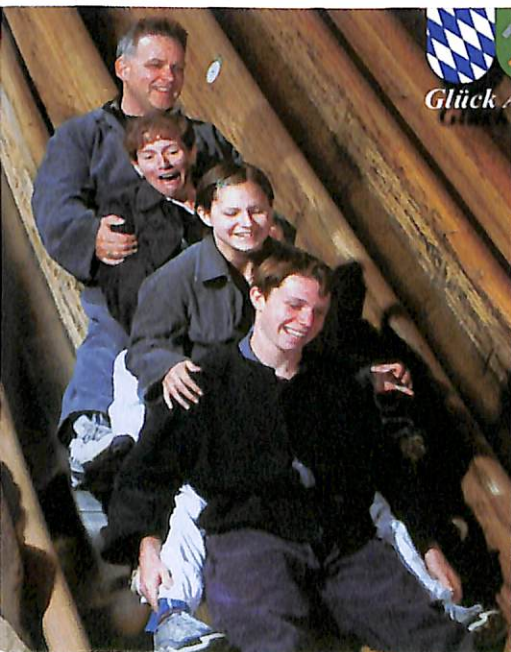

Our very own Garnet Bell is starstruck.

On June 25, 2002, 13 students accompanied by Mr. Gordon, Mrs. Leystra and Mr. Moergeli departed on a nine day excursion to Germany, Austria and Switzerland. We touched down in Vienna, the old capital of the Holy Roman Empire, where we met our tour director Erdel. Highlights of Vienna included Schonbrunn Palace, carriage rides in the rain and a visit to the catacombs in the main cathedral. From Vienna we journeyed onto Salzburg, home of Mozart, then onto Munich where Mr. Moergeli dined on apple strudel and coffee at every cafe including the Hofbrauhaus. On our way to Lucerne, Switzerland, we visited the concentration camp, Dachau, Linderhof castle and the Lion monument. The highlight of Switzerland included an excursion to the top of Mt. Pilatus and some frolicking at the Swiss folklore evening where Eric VanEngelen demonstrated his chugging technique. From Lucerne, we journeyed back across the magnificent Alps on our way to Heidelberg and Frankfurt. A panoramic view of Heidelberg was enjoyed from the courtyard of the castle. We departed from Frankfurt after consuming over $120.00 of apple strudel and desserts from a cafe in the town centre. Many lasting memories and friendships were made.

-Mr. Gordon

Look out for those slivers Mr. Gordon, Mrs. Leystra and Krista Dewsbury! Those wooden slides sure can be rough!

Mr. Jackson and Mr. MOergeli get a glimpse of the beautiful Pacific Ocean

At midnight on March 6, 2003, a group of thirty North Lambton and LCCVI students and teachers began their journey to the lush jungles of Costa Rica.

Once there, the group had no rest and began a walking tour of San Jose. It was not until forty hours after they left that they were able to finally sleep.

The next day, a well-rested group headed to the inactive Poas Volcano to check out the sulphuric green crater. Afterwards, the group headed to Monteverde, where a harrowing four hour bus ensued, complete with "Oh my god" bridges and cliffs.

Monteverde, the lush mountain top community, brought lots of excitement for the group with its cloud forests, ziplines, frogs, scorpions, canopy tours and horses. The horses, in fact, served as the main method of transportation for the group on the fourteen kilometre trail down the mountain. The breathtaking four hour journey was full of wonderful scenery, challenging slopes and painful saddle sores.

Ouch.

At the next town, La Fortuna, the group eased their sore muscles at the world famous hot springs, heated by the nearby Arenal volcano's magma chambers. The group also went on a boat tour of the Arenal Lake and some even braved the frigid waters to go swimming in front of the still-active volcano.

The next stop on the tour was the much-awaited Pacific coast resort, Punta Leona. Everyone enjoyed the two free days of swimming, snorkelling, kayaking, tanning, senior watching and dancing. Mr. Moloy showed the students a thing or two about busting a move on the dance floor with the "cougs" at the disco.

The next stop was the Carrara Biological Reserve and then it was on to the brightly painted town of Sarchi, famous for its intricately painted oxcarts. After a day of shopping, it was back to San Jose, for even more shopping at Costa Rica's biggest mall.

The last full day of the trip brought even more excitement with a white-water rafting

The Niel

Costa Rica

excursion. Everybody got wet, even those who didn't want to, thanks to Mr. Moloy. However, on the bus ride back to San Jose, Moloy got his payback as he slept peacefully.

After a round of goodbyes to tour guides Roger and Karina and the bus driver, Alfonso ("Thanks for not killing us"), the group headed to the airport.

The bus arrived back at North Lambton at 3:00 in the morning on March 15. Glad to be home, but sad to leave Costa Rica behind, students returned with many stories to share, and as Karina had said, "a tiny piece of Costa Rica" in their hearts.

The group takes a minute to check out the scenery on the canopy tour in Monteverde. This bridge is pretty small, huh?

Woe! Sean Forrester, Matt Douglas and Eric VanEngelen seem pretty excited about those hats they are wearing. I guess you can't really be too careful.

The entire group takes a minute to pose for a picture atop the Poas Volcano.

Ben Douglas, Debra Adkin Badder, Brianne Hutton, rafting guide Mr. Monkayo, Christa Reeves, Katie Daubs and Eric VanEngelen paddle their way through some very nasty rapids.

HAUNTED HALLS

The halls of North Lambton Secondary School only become haunted once a year - which is a pretty good record for such an old school. The Halloween festivities were a "spookingly" good time as usual. SAC held their annual Halloween dance and North Lambtoners had their chance to do the monster mash-and, it has to be said-it was a graveyard smash (sorry-it had to be said). Class of 2003 spooked the student body with their haunted house. Students braved the frightening strobe lights to be scared out of their wits-or maybe just to laugh at the poor saps in their goofy costumes. Nevertheless, a scary time was had by all who participated in the festivities.

Alicia Prideaux, Melissa VandenBoer, Breanne Vennema, Lauren Donald, Tara Mason and Laura Maxfield show their school spirit on halloween.

Miss Sippel or Cruella Devil? Who knows?

That's Fro-tastic! Disco Fever Vera Linzbach.

Nicole Rombouts and Billy Trenouth take halloween to the next "level".

Wonderland

Sleigh bells ring, are you listening? In the lane, snow is glistening, a beautiful sight, we're happy tonight, walking in a winter wonderland. Although the sleigh bells weren't exactly ringing, and the snow outside was more brown than white, the gym was definitely a beautiful sight thanks to the hard work of Class of 2003. The much-anticipated semiformal, held in the gym this year, was once again a huge success. Decked out in winter-inspired fashions, students sparkled, shimmered, and danced the night away under the snowflakes. Johnny Klumpkens and Breanne Venema reigned over the evening as the chosen snow king and queen, respectively. Almost 400 snowmen and women turned out for the event to prove that North Lambtoners can really bust a move on the dance floor!

Toot toot! Tiffany Sheppard, Blake Gatschene, Jordan Tough and Adam Douglas hop aboard the party train.

Jacob Moloy and gang belt out ampthr great tune.

On April 9, 10, and 11 the drama club of North Lambton proudly presented the Ellie Greenwich musical, Leader of the Pack. The story centres on Ellie Greenwich, a young songwriter, and it follows her rise to the top of the music industry. Along the way, Ellie falls in love, gets her heart broken, and sings her heart out.

The cast and crew worked hard to produce the wonderful musical, and audiences were delighted to revisit the sixties with such songs as "Leader of the Pack", "I Can Hear Music", and "Be my Baby". The students in the play danced and sang the songs with great enthusiasm thanks to all the help from Mr. Dumais and his pit band, Mrs. Leystra, Miss Rogan and choreographer Kim Quinn. Some of the main singers included: Jacob Moloy, Jason Fisher, Julie Armstrong, Christine VandenBerk, Tiffany Webb, Kelly Maxfield, Lauren Donald, Tammy Hayter, Stephanie Ireland and Sarah VanEngelen.

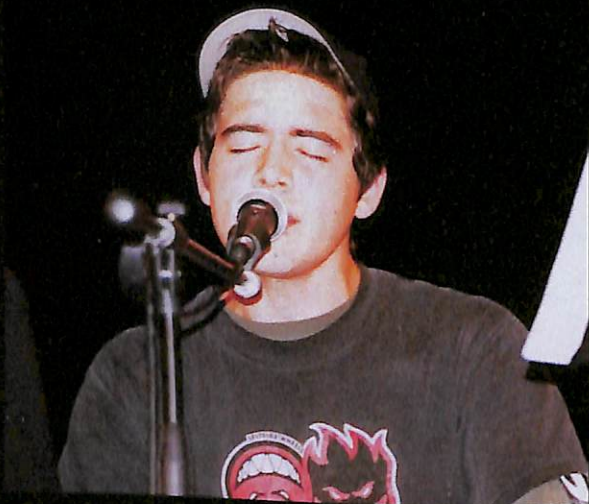

One question remains. What does Da Doo Ron Ron really mean? We may never know. One thing we do know however after seeing this play, is that North Lambton is chock full of talent.

Would you like a coffee with that entertainment?

Early in October, The drama department of North Lambton hosted a coffee house. Many of North Lambton's talented performers came out to entertain the public who enjoyed snacks and refreshments. The night was a big success as North Lambton was able to show the community all of its talent.

Nathan Carrothers gives the crowd a reason to smile.

Melanie Snyder and Jennifer Monague serve up lots of goodies at the coffee house.

DRAMA-RAMA

This year, the drama department at North Lambton put on show after show for the student body and the community. Kelly Maxfield, a Grade 12 student, wrote, produced and acted in her own murder mystery, which was put on for the community. The DramaDepartment also played a big role in the Remembrance Day Assembly. The Drama department plays an integral role in the school. Whether you are enrolled in a class, performing in a play, or watching a play, you are somehow connected to the wonderful world of drama.

TALENT OVERLOAD

North Lambton's stars came out to shine once again this year at the annual Class of 2003 Talent Show. The show was a great showcase of North Lambton's talent- and not just from the students-but from the teachers as well.

Emcees Spencer Donald and Sheryl Smits kept the crowds entertained between the acts with a few acts of their own. There were even a few celebrities that decided to show up for the much anticipated Zack Attack reunion. Winning this year's talent show was Brad Marsh and Fraser Teeple, who sang their own song. Second place went to Lauren Donald, and third place went to the Bad Mammajamas, for their dance routine. All of the acts did an amazing job, and they all proved that when it comes to talent, North Lambton has an overload.

Christine Vanderberk and Nick Campbell sing a wonderful duet for the audience.

IF IT WIGGLES - IT'S BIOLOGY ...

In biology, we learn about how the body functions. If you take biology at the senior level, you learn in detail the functions in your body...like the creb cycle and what happens when you have a cut. However, the best thing about biology is the teachers-especially the infamous cell rap of Mr. Moergeli. The labs in biology are always a lot of fun, and not only that, they are very informative and interesting. Biology rocks!

IF IT SMELLS - IT'S CHEMISTRY ...

In chemistry, we have a lot of fun burning things. Of course, this is all regulated. We burn magnesium, and other materials. Of course it's not all fun and fire. We learn from all of the labs we do. Chemistry is important because it teaches us about chemical functions and how things work. When you take a course in chemistry, you not only explore different chemicals and gasses, but you also get to burn things.

Projects for 2003/2003 included:

hockey nets	stained glass stepping stones
building a dock	stained glass eagle light box
trailer	weight bench
CD rack	guitar stand
...and so much more!

In the course of the semester, you learn the fundamentals through both text-books and hands on experience. You work on everything from lawn mowers to full size pick-ups. It is a very enjoyable course and you learn more than just about automobiles. You also learn excellent teamwork skills that are necessary in any workplace.

It is the foundation for all school subjects and the foundation for life. Without reading and writing skills we would all be truly lost. However, it is debatable if we would be lost without Shakespeare. Chances are if you asked an English teacher, they'd tell you that we would be. We'll just take their word for it.

Diana Hodgson and Carla Kemp are arguing about who has the cooler accessory. Sorry Carla, but the grey hat wins.

Zut Alors!

J'en ai assez! Quoi? How could you ever have enough French? It's a wonderful skill to know and understand une autre langue. In today's world, it's almost mandatory to know a second language. The students who choose to study French at North Lambton learn all of the tricks of the trade. Whether they're conjugating verbs, writing stories or reading "le petit prince" one thing is certain—ils ont de bon temps! So do yourself a favour and leave a little room for French in your life—and you'll be happy that you did!

Travis McDonald gives Chris Burnard the proper translation, "Tout le monde a de bon temps ce soir, tout le monde WANG CHUNG ce soir!"

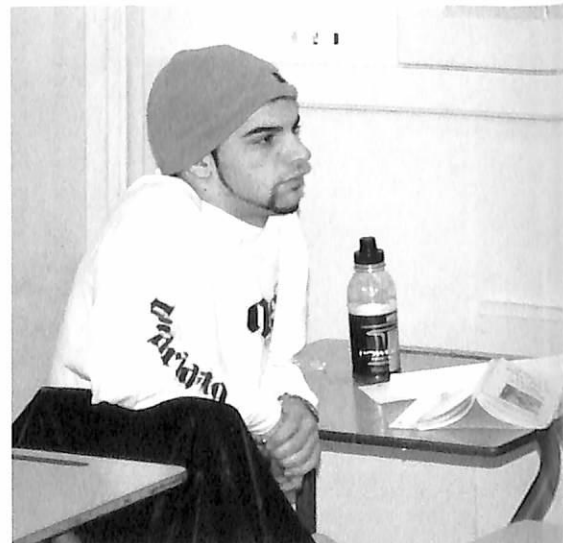

Joel Fraser takes over Mlle. Kingdon's desk to do a little teaching of his own.

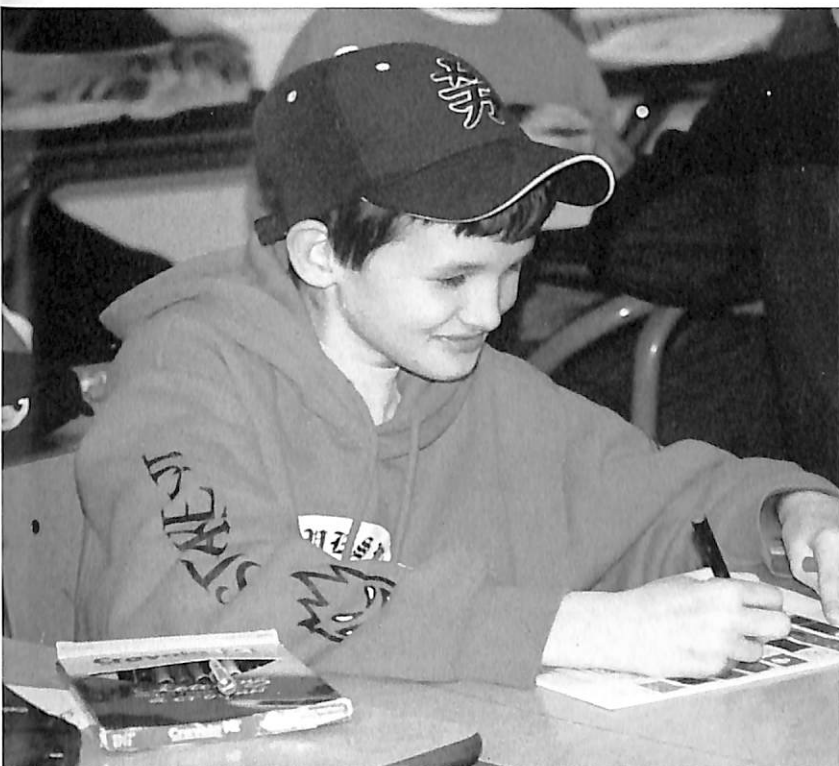

Mackenzie Sanger is simply intrigued by Mme. Goldhawk's teaching methods. Either that or he knew that this picture was being taken so he tried to look intellectual.

Andrew VanEngelen finds the third floor to be very chilly so he decides to play it safe and wear a toque to class.

Justin Werden is meditating during French class. He finds it helps him to conjugate those nasty verbs. Whatever works!

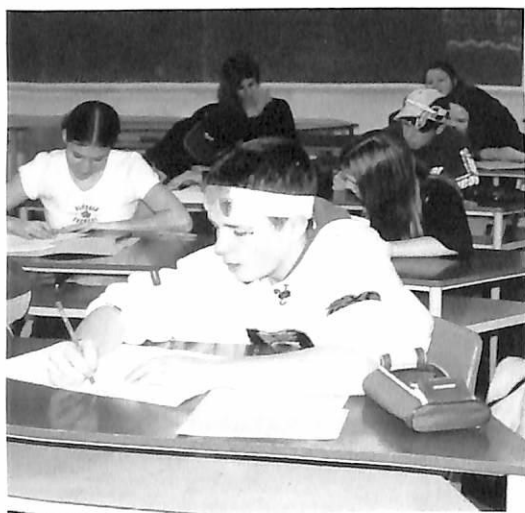

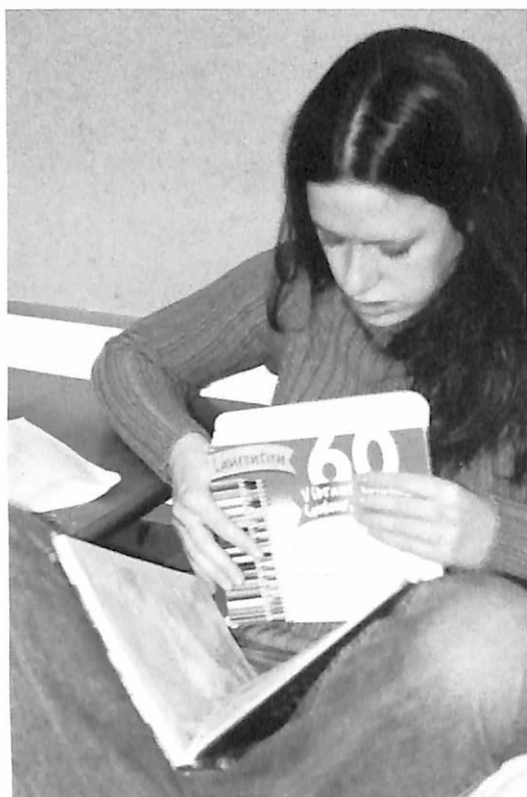

Group work means that the work gets done faster. I don't think this applies to the group of Meaghan Watson and Sarah Rutten.

Chris Vansevenant is working hard during class so he won't have to work hard after class.

Mlle. Kingdon teaches the class through song. Just kidding.

The last graduates of the french immersion program at North Lambton. Andrew VanEngelen, Sarah Smeekens, Derek Crawford, Alex Sanger, Andrea Wolff, Blake Faulds, Natale Buehrman, Joel Fraser and Dan VanEngelen.

AROUND THE WORLD

Amanda Wouters- so many colours, so little time.

No, this is not "Wear your dirty white track suit to school day". Eric Smit, Mr. Tichenoff, Mike Kwarcia, Trevor Adams, Pam Miner, Billy Trenouth and Vera don't mind getting a little dirty...for a good cause.

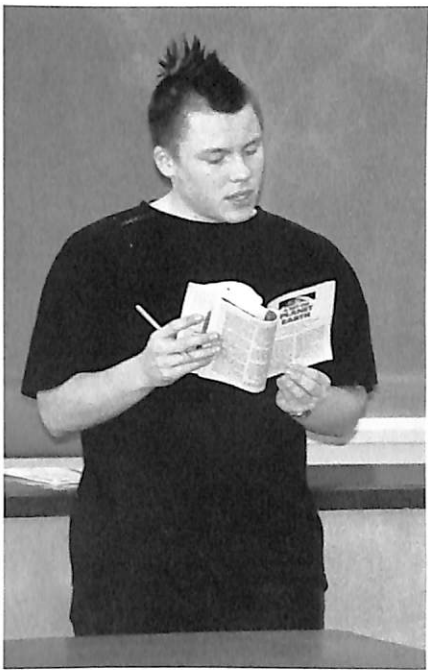

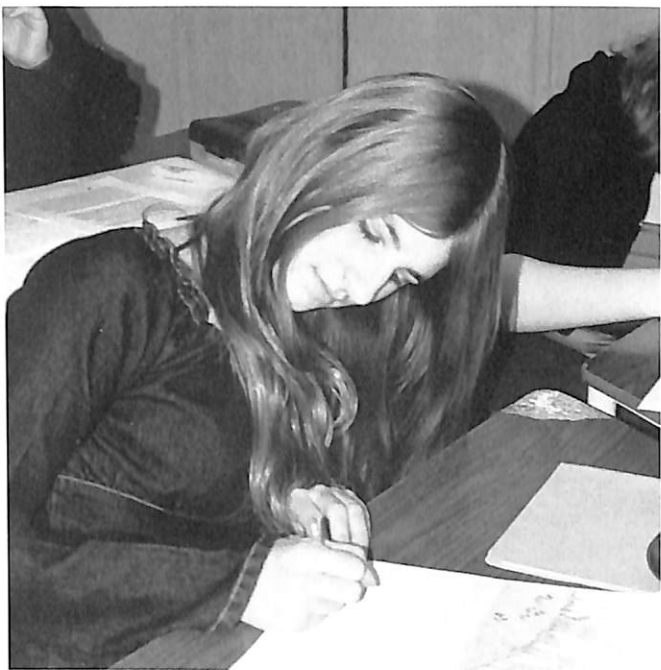

You have to concentrate hard on your studies if you want to make the grade.

Mrs. Oreskovich's grade ten students are so excited about geography and the cool shape of the desks.

So yeah, Ryan Murdock did write an article for this page. It was really good too. Unfortunately, because of the "hand your locks back in" rule, it was unable to make it on this page. You see, I didn't want to carry around my bookbag all day during exams so I left it at home. When I got here, I realized it was at my house, but that's a long walk, and it's really hot outside. So, I apologize. Props to Ryan Murdock for writing it though... it's too bad about the new rules...

Trista Arnhold writes and colours up a storm.

Ryan Murdock tells everybody all about the planet Earth. "It's round."

Peter Kronenberg can't take it anymore. There's just too many countries!

Working as a team to get the job done faster.

Once again, these grade nine students couldn't be more happier.

Looking to the Past

Quick! What happened on July 14, 1789? While some students in Mr. Mclean's Grade 12 history class may reply, "That's my birthday," the correct answer is that the Storming of the Bastille occurred on that date. The storming of the what? Okay, okay, so this fact may be considered trivial. But is it? The Storming of the Bastille is considered to be the beginning of the French Revolution, one of the most important events in recent history. Well, you may be saying to yourself, who cares? The answer is this: History is important because you have to know where you've been to know where you are going. Scholars have been looking to the past to solve the problems of the present for years. History supplies the background for today's world. The present relationships between the countries of today are a direct result of the conflicts and compromises of the past few millennia. So, is history important? Well, yeah, I'd say so.

Sherry Steinginga takes in all that history action.

Grade 10 student, John Dickson, re-enacts a scene from WWII

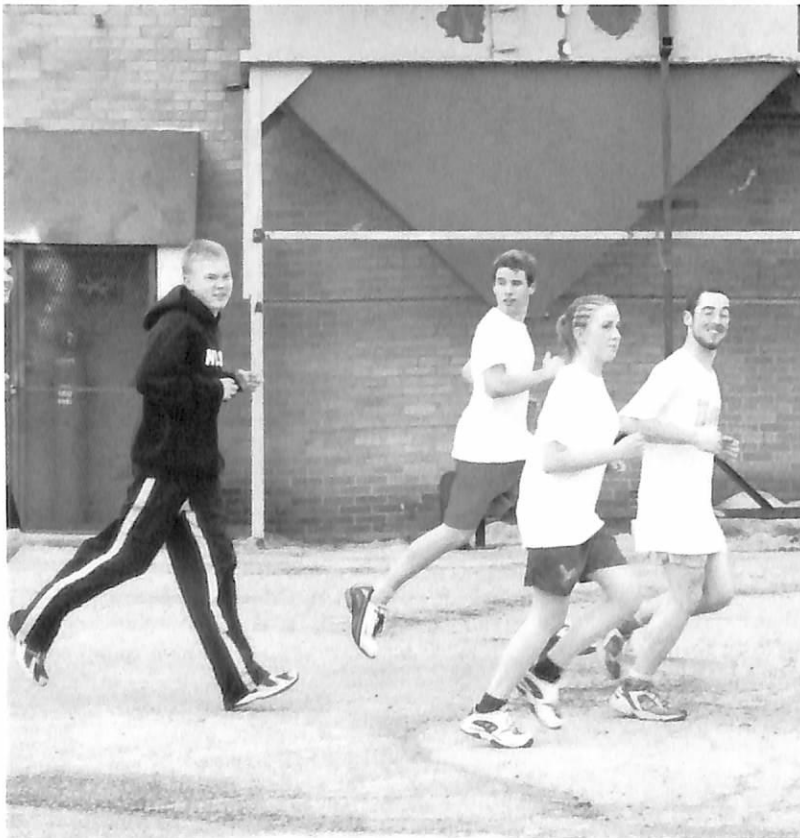

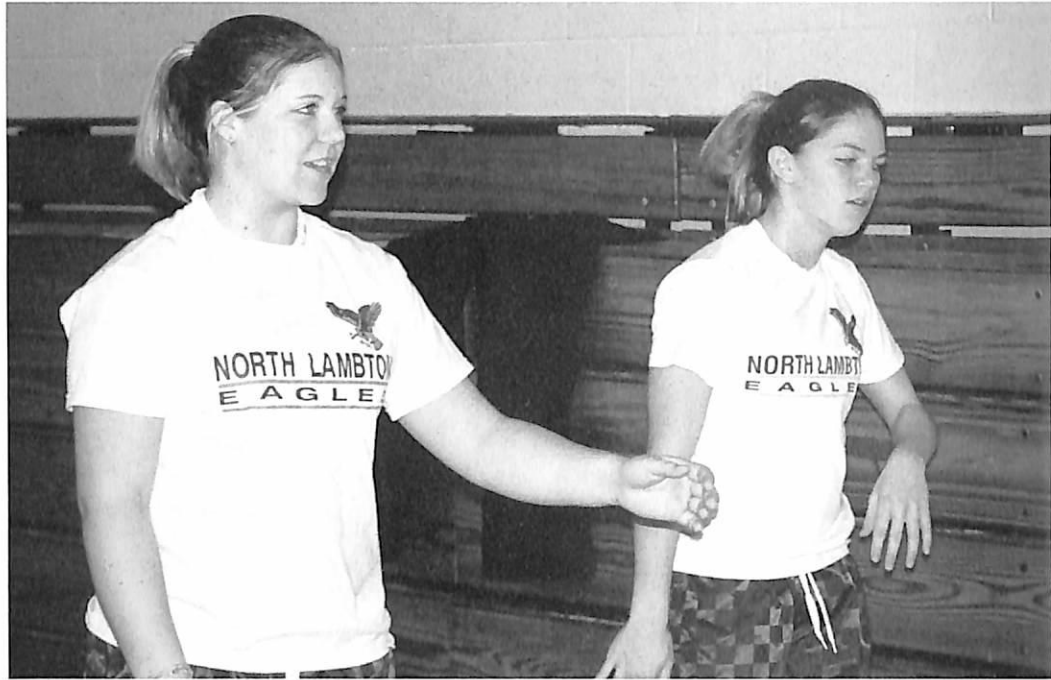

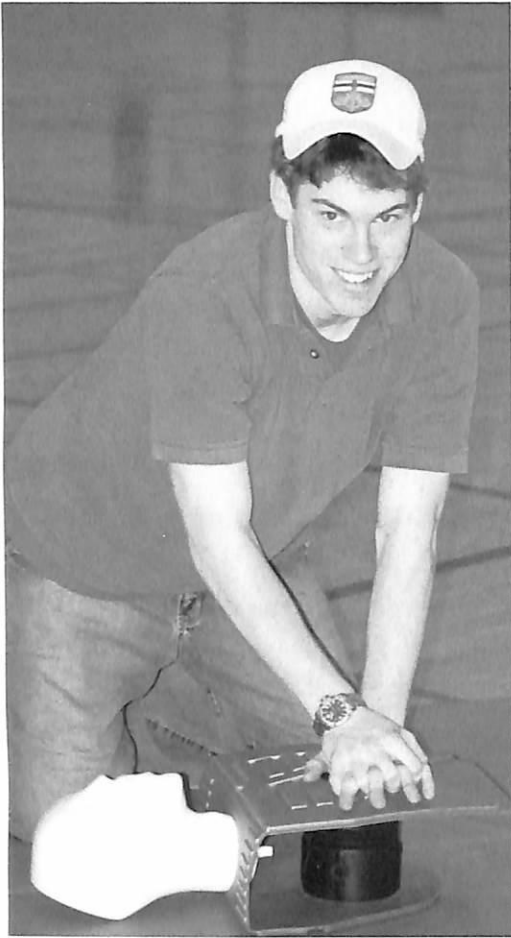

Ben Burr watches Sam Kristoferson and Kelly Jackson in amazement.

Kelly Jackson shows the class a thing or two about drawing a circle.

Over in another class, Garret Moons, Randy Boris and Willy Knapp all watch in amazement.

Greg Vanderbeek finds that chewing on his pen helps him with his homework.

Let's Get Physical

Meghan Watson and Jenea Hill take a break from gym class.

Run! Run for your life!

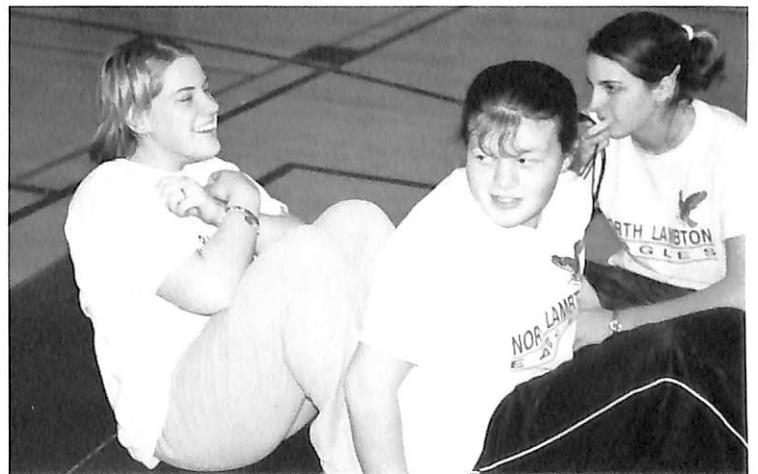

Mat Kelders, stop looking off into the distance! There are lives to be saved!

Meghan VanEnglen gets ready to run.

Mrs. Johnson's gym class tries to make it down the hill.

Jessie Moore stops to think while biking.

Crystal Curts makes sure Katie Dew doesn't try to chat during her sit-ups.

What's the Lowe Down?

In my final year of high school, I had the pleasure of having Mrs. Lowe for both law and accounting. The atmospheres in both classes were fairly different. In accounting, I sit with a bunch of guys, which eventually leads to Mrs. Lowe putting her foot down, wanting to teach how to balance the books. In law, I sit with a bunch of girls, and I think we cause just as much mischief as my accounting buddies. However, Mrs. Lowe would never get mad at her "girls of the law". Either way, Mrs. Lowe provided us with a good background that should be beneficial for post

Mel Davies looks a little timid while awaiting the class' reaction to her debate. Be nice, boys!

Hey guys! Look! It's Jodi Falconer! PSYCH! Heh, heh, heh...Jordan Tough, Dan Stephenson and Tiffany Shepard sure were suckers for falling for that one.

Mike Kwarciak, AGAIN! Holy, follow the yearbook camera much? Don't you think you're in here enough?

Melissa VandenBoer is simply invigorated by her classmate's debate. Can't you see the excitement on her face?

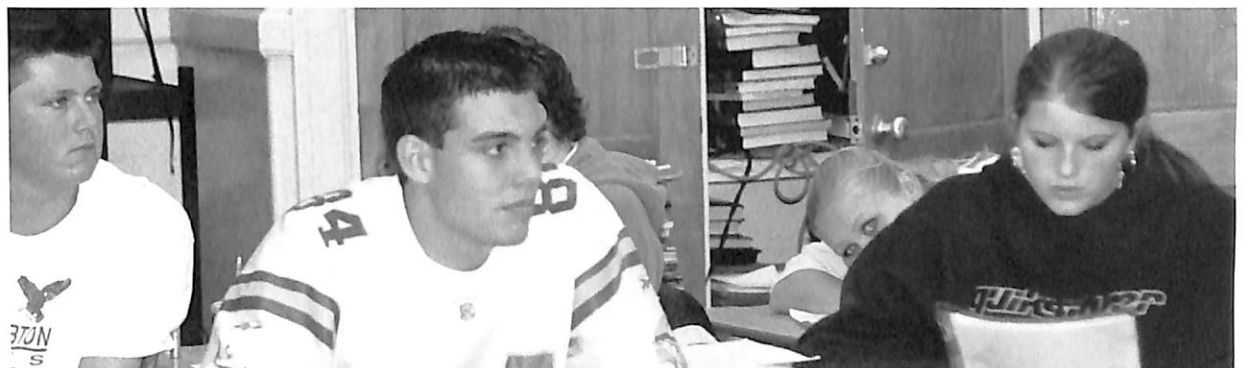

secondary education. This is Mrs. Lowe's 25th year here at NLSS, and all of my accounting boys and I took the liberty of throwing her a water and chips party. Fun was had by all!

-Spencer Donald

Mrs. Lowe avoids becoming parched by taking a swig from the sacred water bottle.

Greg VanLieshout tries to get a sneak-peek at his debate mark. Oooh...not so smiley now, are we?

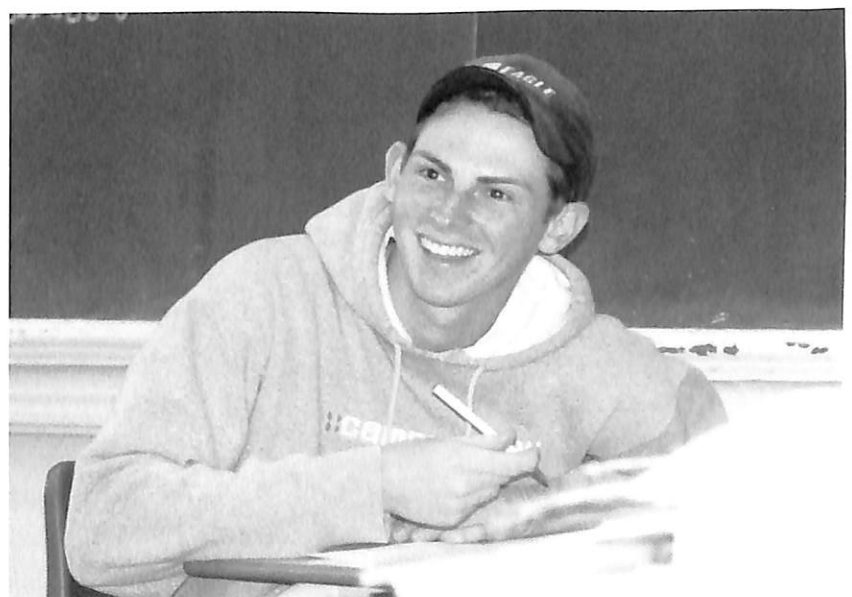

Katie Solway peeks out behind Sheryl Smits. Joel Fraser and Spencer Donald can't even look at her...putting your head down in law class is unacceptable.

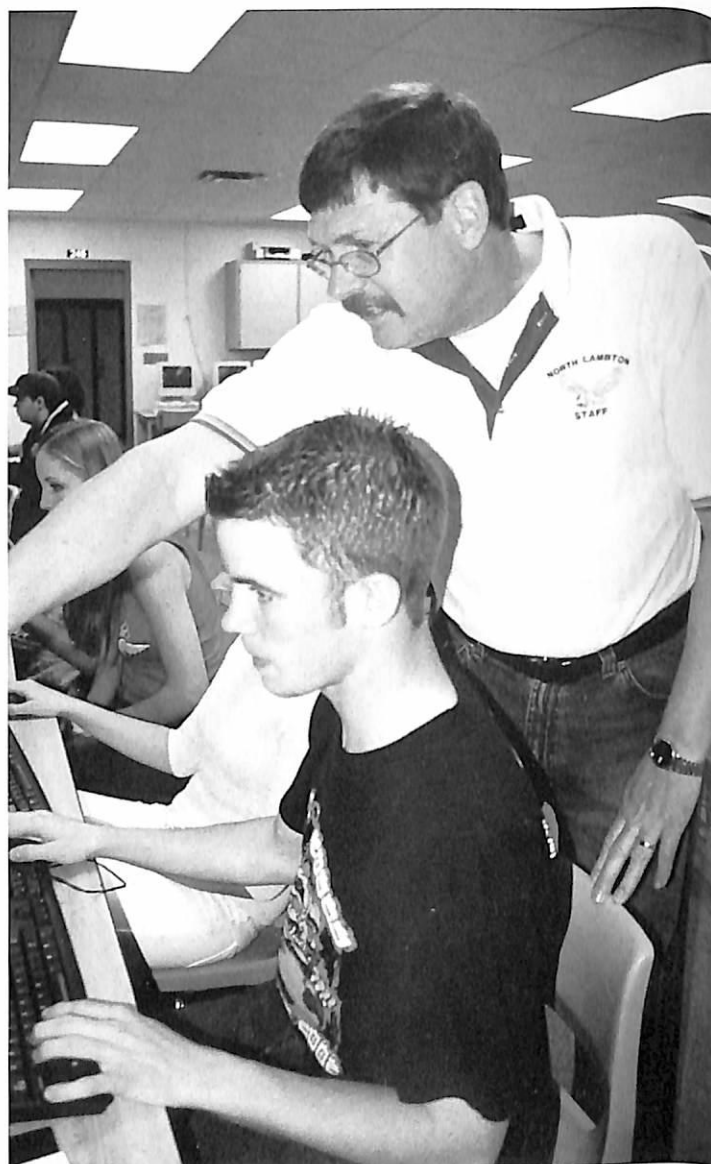

Laura Maxfield doesn't look too smiley...Greg VanLieshout must be winning the debate.

Greg VanLieshout is all smiles..he thinks he has this one in the bag.

Unfortunately, we don't have enough pictures to fill this page. This is Mike Kwarciak, with a computer.

Mr. Hoornweg shows Brett Dunlop a thing or two about computers.

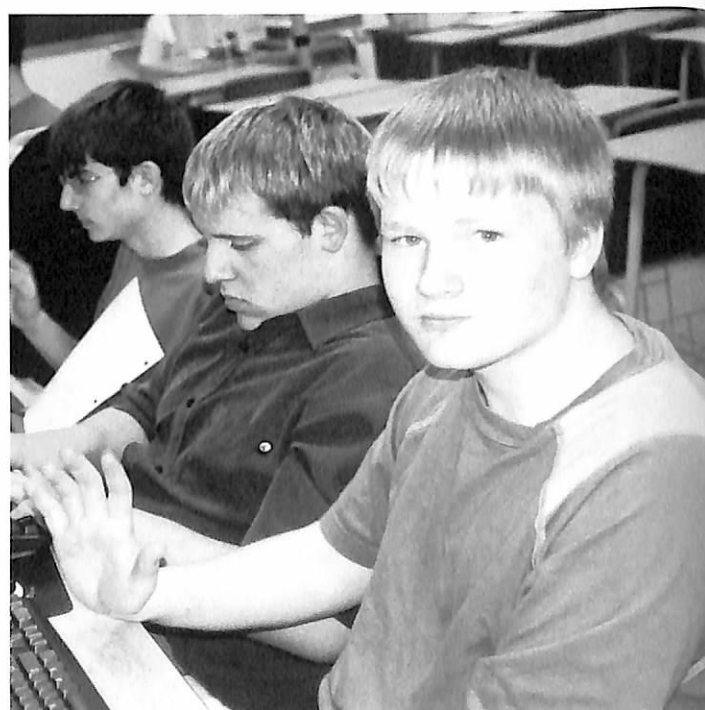

Holy, is that John Travolta or Mr. Hoornweg.

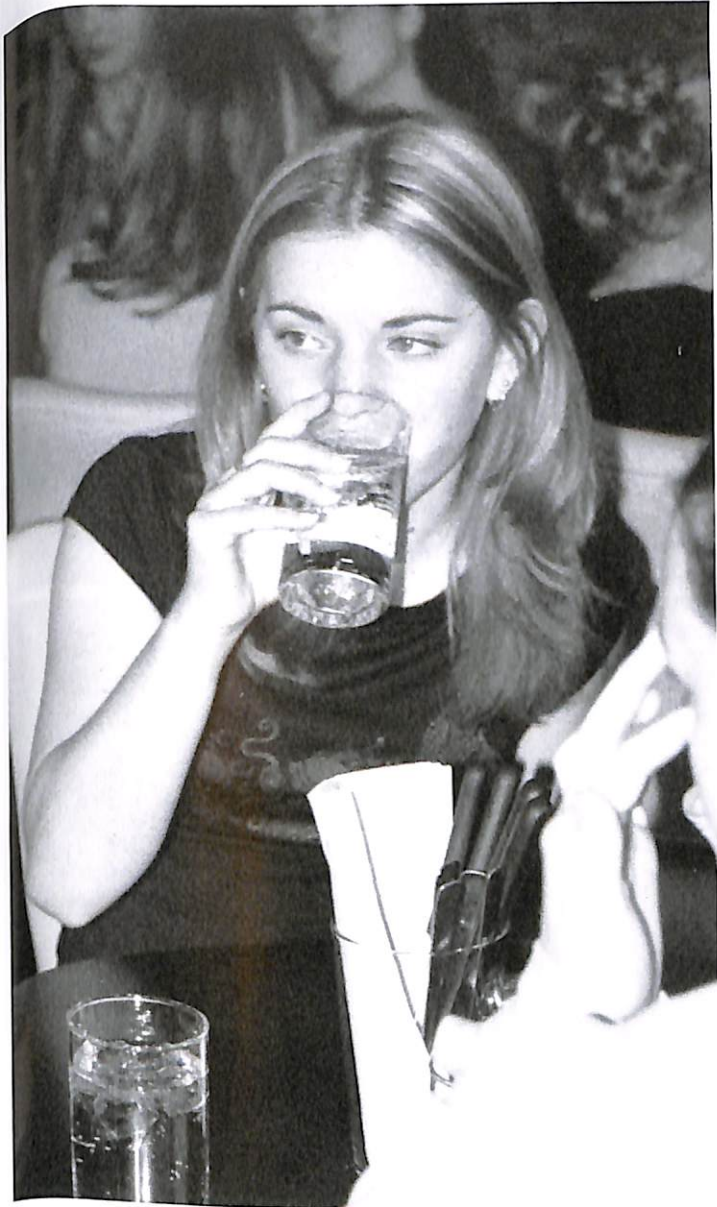

Mike Kwarciak...oops, I mean Mark Kwarciak makes faces at the computer.

Mark Kwarciak is hard at work while Andrew Nixon takes some time out to wave hello to the camera. Hello to you too, Andrew

Civics & Careers

And that, my friends, is how you teach a civics class. Mr. McLean in action.

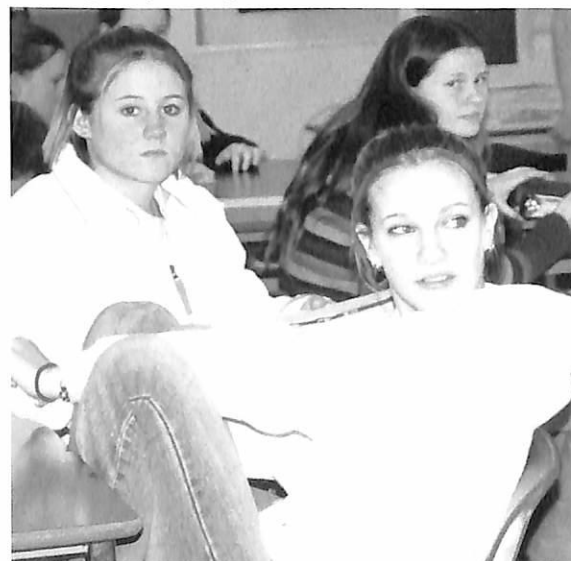

Julia Perry chillaxes with a guest speaker.

Nick Shipley wants nothing to do with the guy beside him and his dancing. Stay strong Nick Jill Thomas and Travis Deschutter are completely enthralled by what guest speaker Gordon Minielly is saying.

There was an empty space on this page. These girls aren't really in civics or careers!

Sewing a straight line is not so easy!

Whipping up a tasty treat!

Learning from the big kids at NLSS Daycare.

EVERYBODY WINS

When you take the co-op program at North Lambton, you receive a real education. The work experience that you gain is pivotal in making important career decisions. You are able to apply the knowledge you already have learned at school in the world of work, and the work experience gained will help you in school. In co-op, everybody wins!

Susan Verberk, all those picture frames you're pricing at Stedman's should have pictures of Mike Kwarciak in them!

Wow, big smile! Jon Ferwerda must really be enjoying his co-op at the Forest Baptist Church. You won't find placements that good at St. Chris!

Billie Elliot develops some pictures at the card shop. They're probably for yearbook, and they are probably of Mike Kwarciak.

Jordana Stanlake informed me that I needed to freshen my breath. I was completely shocked, but I trust her judgement, so I bought some Certs from Sobeys in Grand Bend.

After I finished my ice cream, I kind of had to use the restroom. Ashley Devine thought it would be cool if she got a coffee when I was gone. I don't think so Ashley.

...When we got back to Forest, I was like, wow, I need some ice cream...STAT! So Mike Kwarciak recommended Dreamworld. When we got there, Sam Kristoferson greeted us with a smile.

After I bought my Certs, I thought that I needed some reading material. I thought, this mag looks interesting... Jamie Howden thought so too. Yeah you can barrow it sometime Jamie.

A Night on the Town with Jodi Falconer

It was getting pretty dark and I was kind of scared. I know what will make me feel better, (I said to myself) potato salad! We stopped by Grog's and David VanPoppel was more than happy to hook me up.

Danielle Luckhart says my breath smells great, I even got the thumbs up. I got to thinking, while I was at Shopper's Drug Mart in Grand Bend, that it might rain, so I bought this giant yellow umbrella, just in case.

WHAT!? Ashley got one single Timbit too? That's it...i'm telling Mike Kwarciak!

Hi! I'm Jodi Falconer! Let's go shopping!

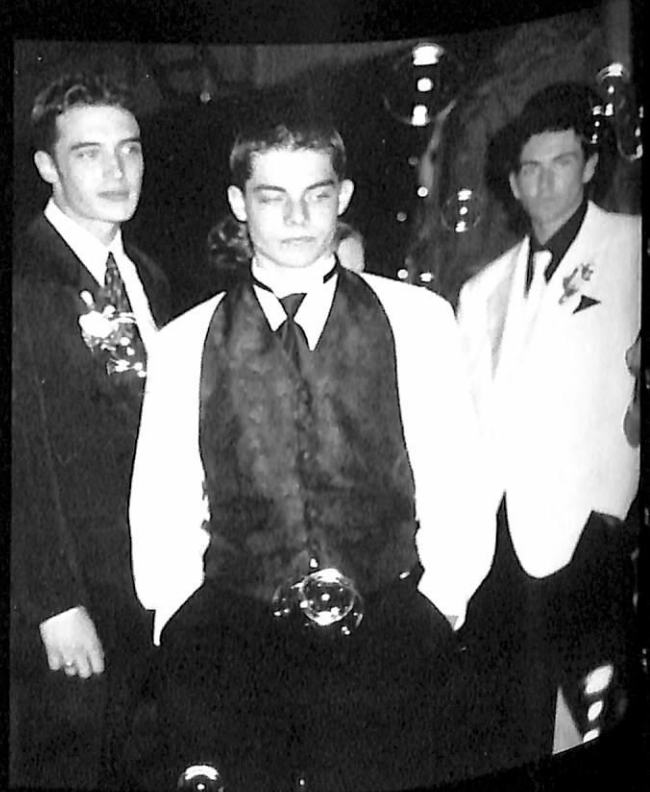

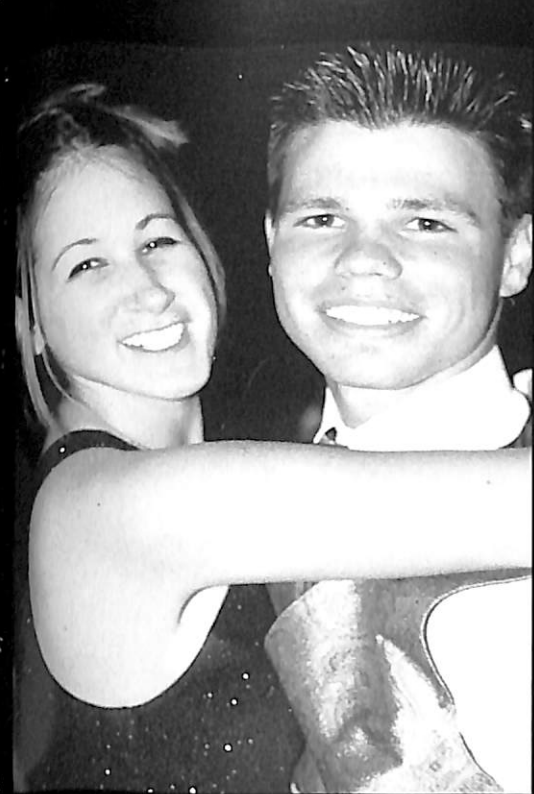

Midsummer Night's Dream

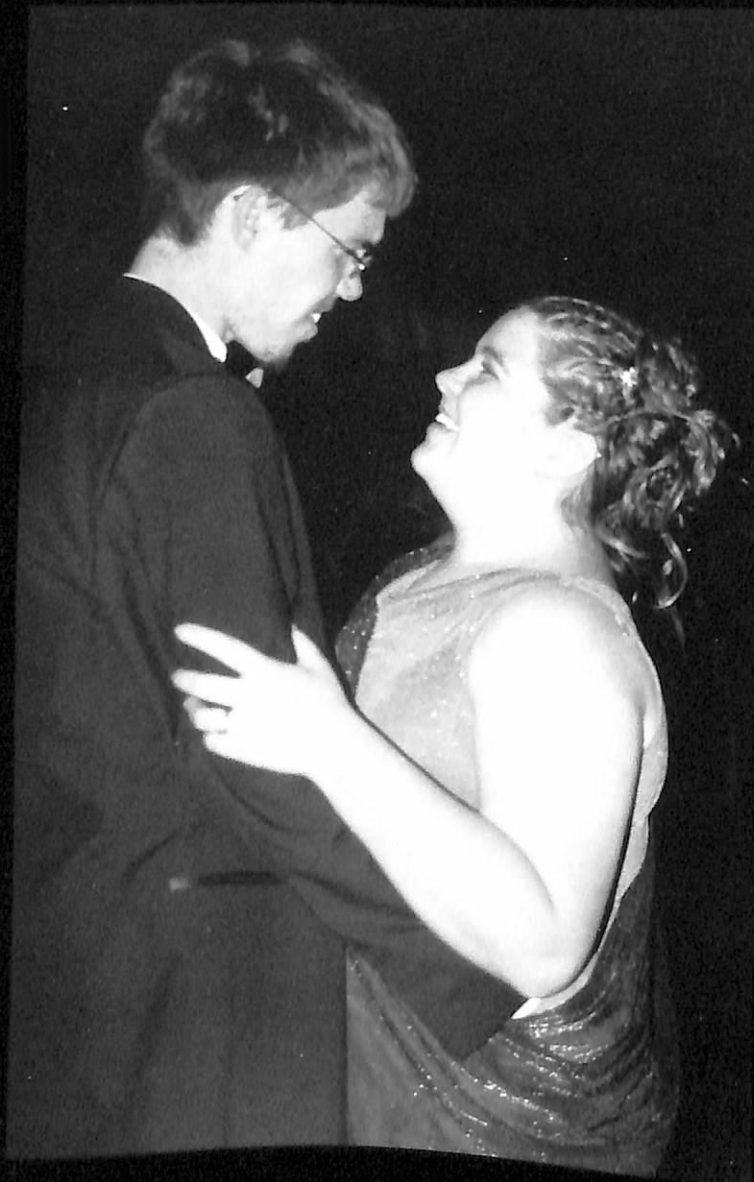

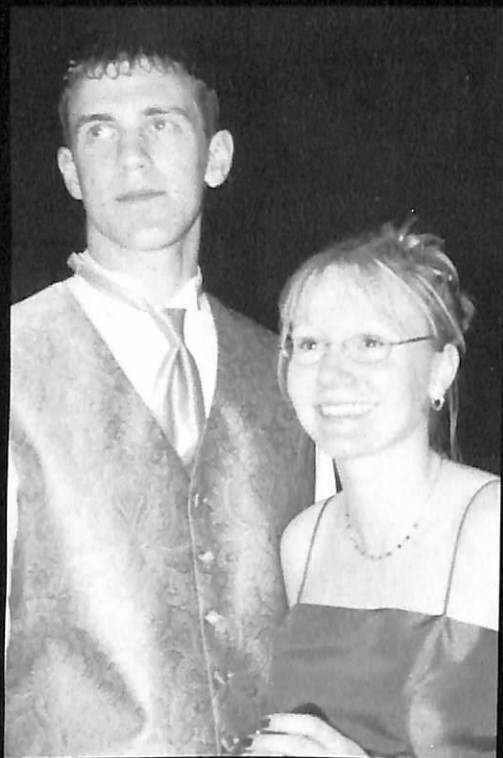

PROM 2003

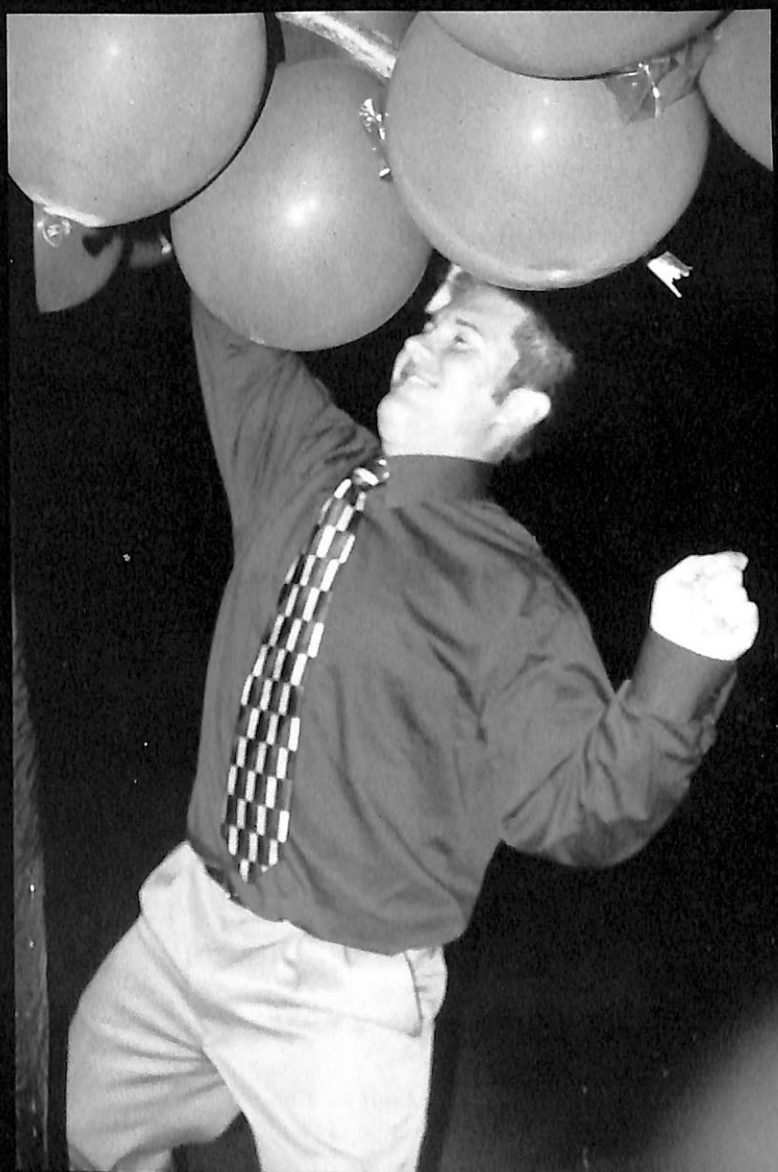

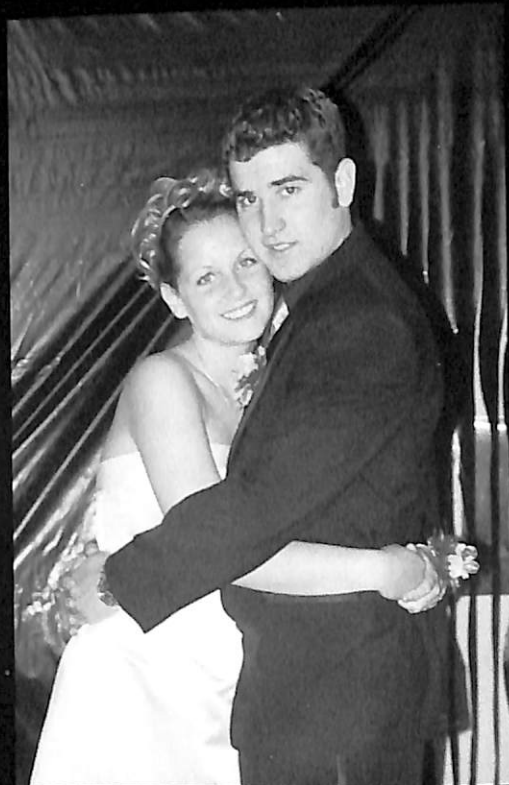

On May 31, 2003, senior students of North Lambton Secondary School rocked the casba in the greatest prom North Lambton has ever witnessed. The decorations were outstanding, and Class of 2003 did an amazing job re-creating a natural paradise in the gym. But hey, when is Class of 2003 not amazing? All of the students looked great and they all proceeded to dance the night away under the beautiful canopy.

This year's prom king and queen were Luke Milley and Katie Daubs. The king's court included Jacob Clemens, Jason Fisher and Ben Burr and the queen's court included Kelly Maxfield, Jennifer Duff, Danielle Luckhart and Amanda Wouters.

If These Halls Could Talk...

At least Andrew Brown isn't shooting us the bird. Jody Fuller told Rob Alberti that he was in a farming accident and lost 3 fingers. I'm assuming he's laughing because he just realized what a weirdo Jody is.

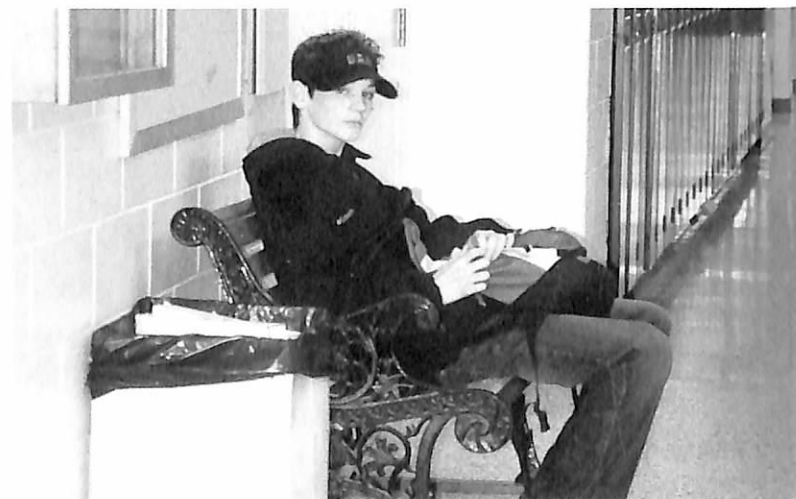

Hey guy! (Sorry we couldn't figure out your name) Did you get sent out in the hall because you couldn't stop daydreaming about Jody Fuller?

I think that Kerrie Winegarden borrowed this weird hat from Jody Fuller.

Alicia Dixon and Amanda McKay take a break on the couches in the library...DURING CLASS! You know what Jody Fuller thinks of that...no dice.

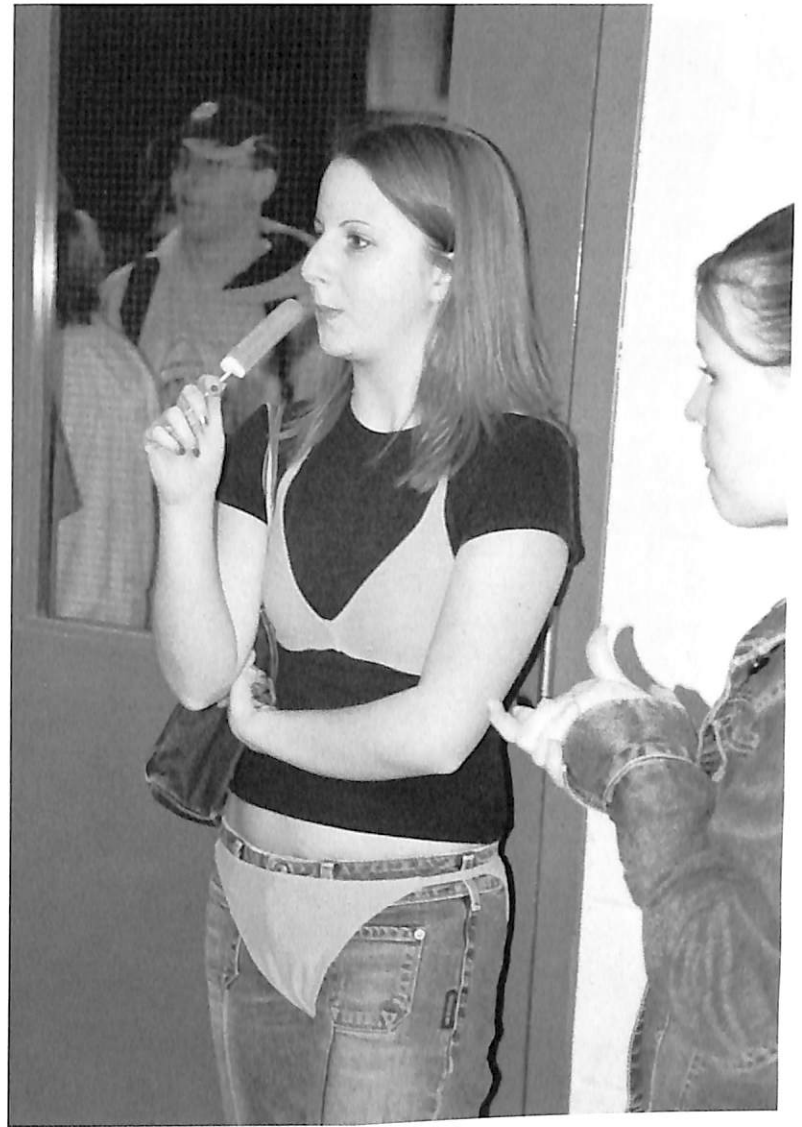

Trevor Hubley looks pretty lonely sitting there by himself. Maybe Jody Fuller should go and sit with him.

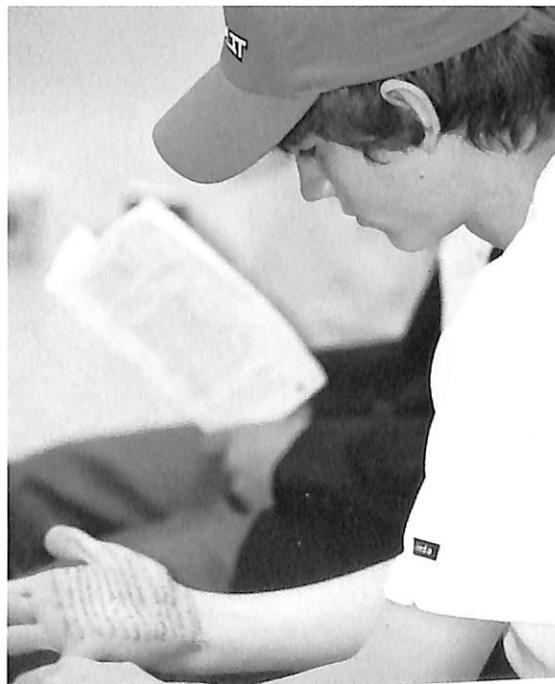

Hey Alicia Pang, are you sticking your thumb out because you're hitchhiking? Maybe Jody Fuller will come and pick you up in the "Wrang".

Katie Vanos enjoys eating popsicles and wearing a bikini in the middle of winter. Jody Fuller says that's okay.

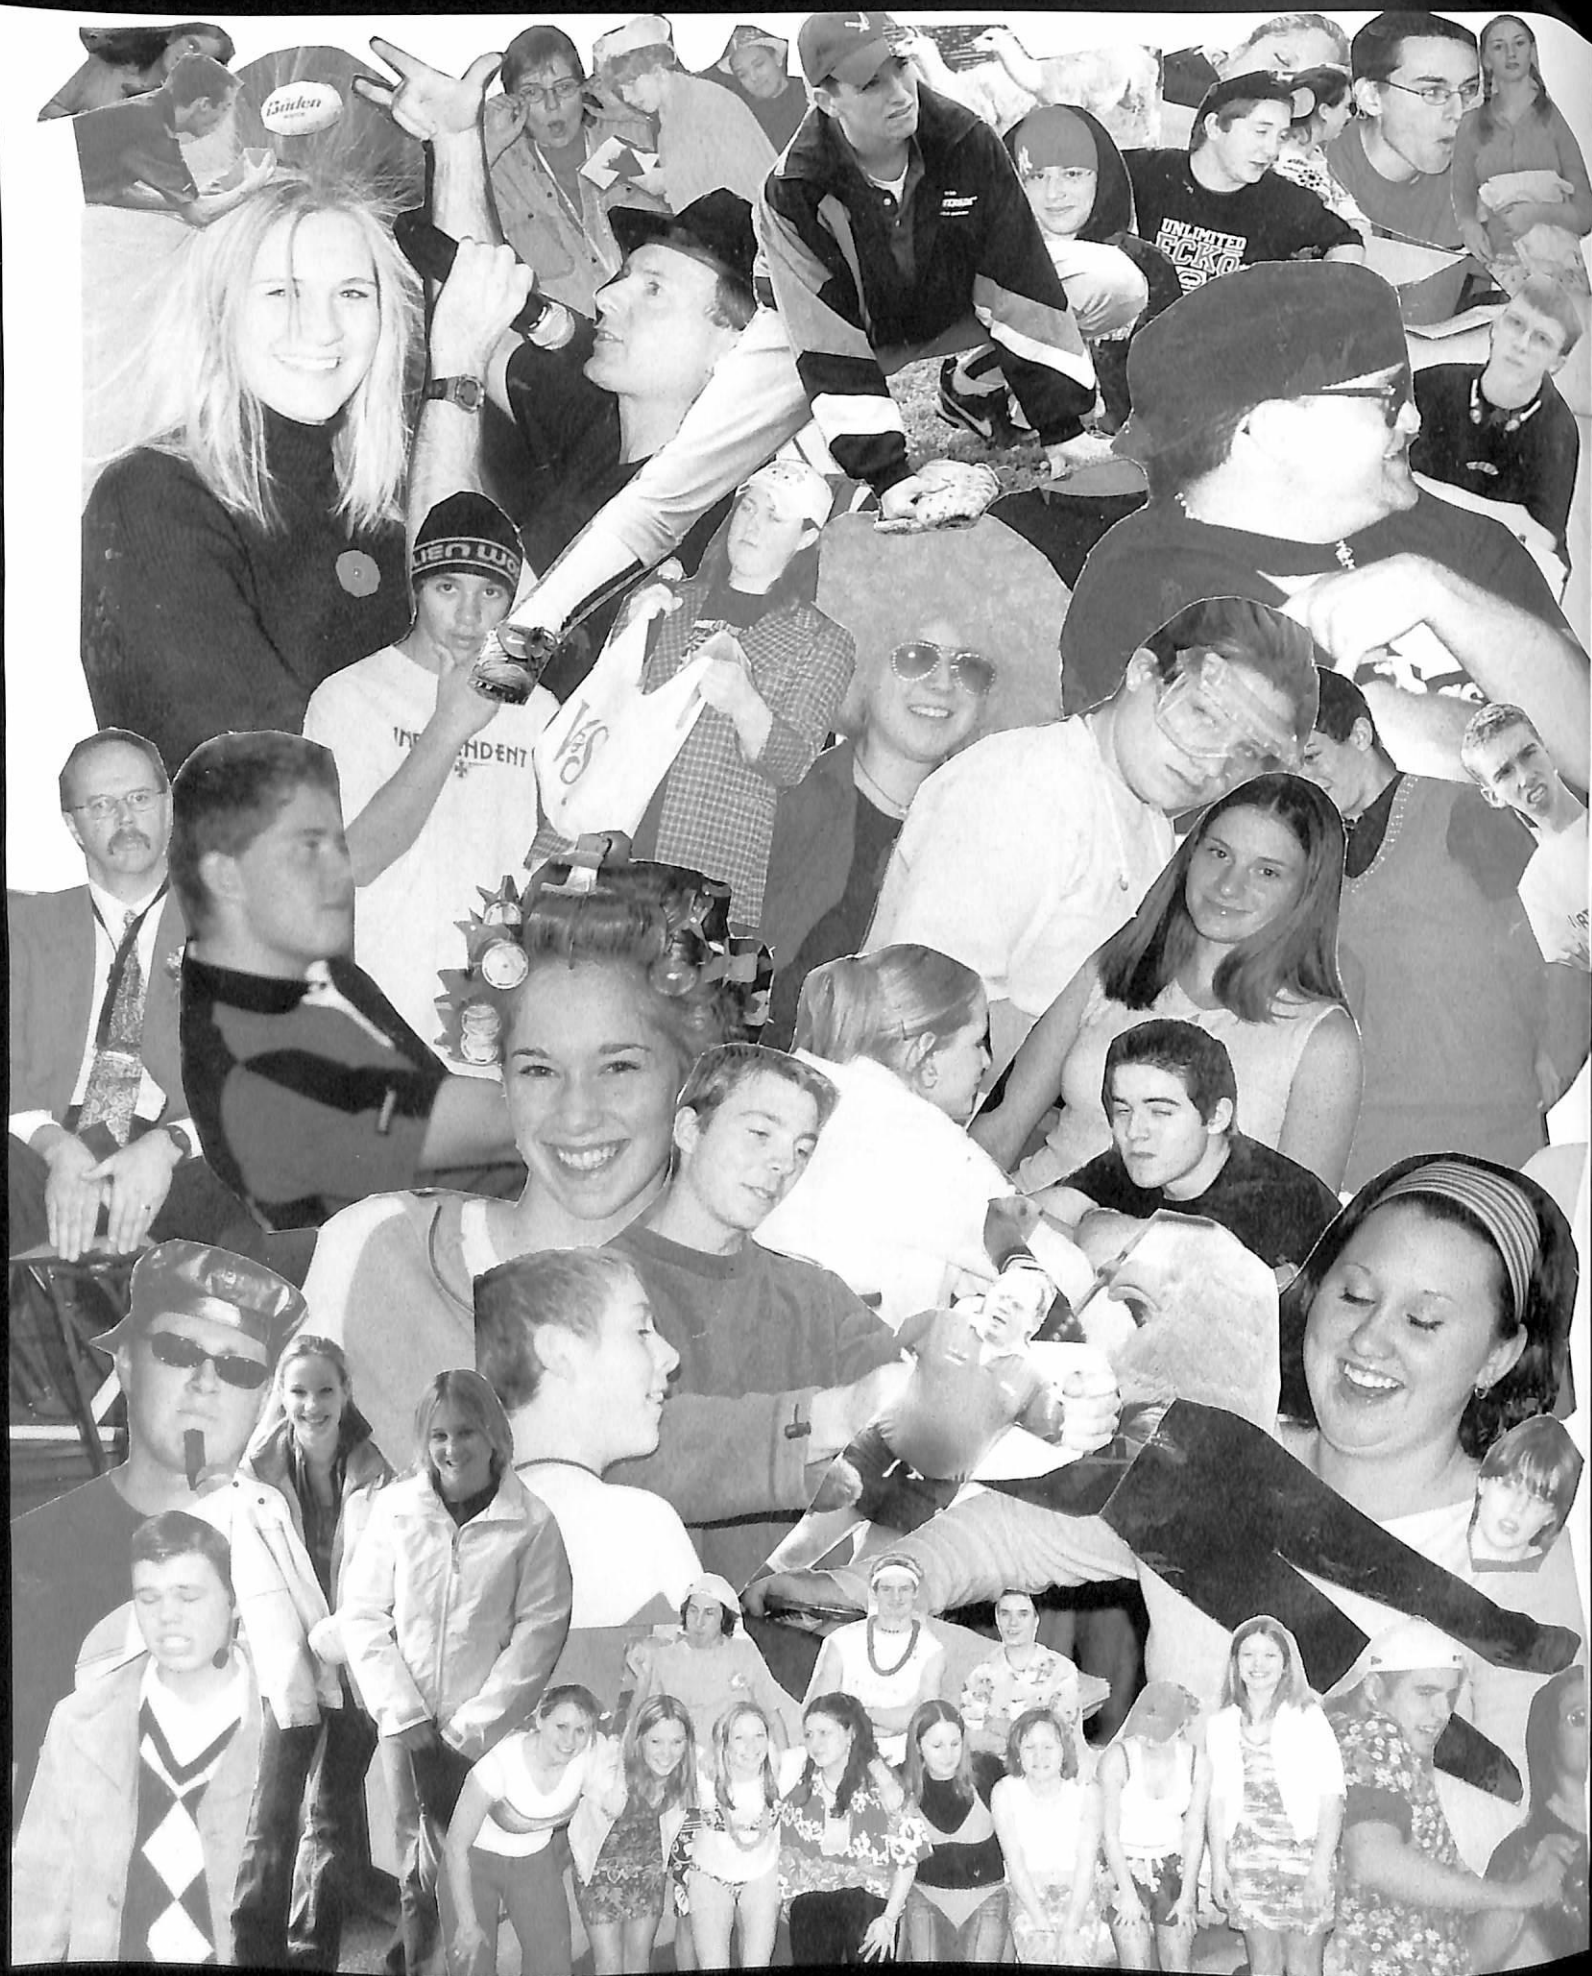

The Stories They Would Tell!

Ben Morgan sleeps peacefully on the couch. If he knew that Jody Fuller didn't approve, he'd be having nightmares right now. But hey, I guess making such good use of the library is important...congratulations library award winner Ben Morgan!

Uh oh, Mark Wilson. Jody Fuller would not approve of this sort of shenanigan.

Sarah owns a financial institution. Not bad, considering she's in high school.

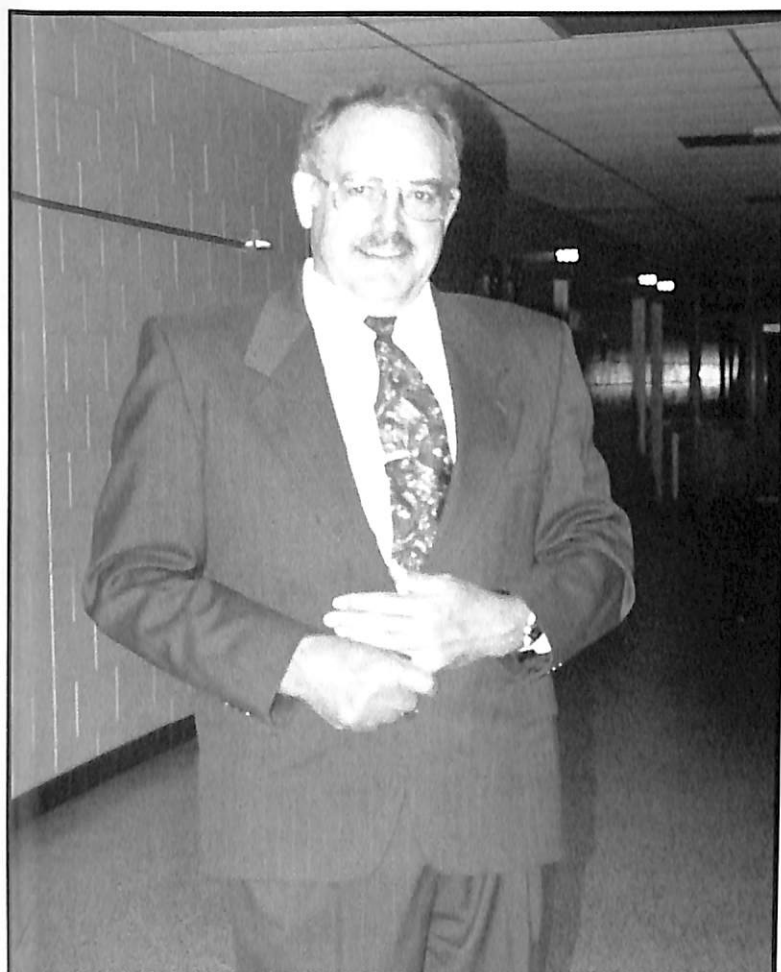

As a St. Willibrord owner, Sarah can bank where and when it's convenient for her – at a branch or an ATM, online or even by phone. (Looks like she's already very comfortable with that option.)
